President Harrison Hastens to Washington

To Take Steps to Keep the Disease From Landing.

The Moravia and Her Passengers at Hoffman Island—Ohio Citizens Asked to Clean Up.

Herkimer, N. Y., Sept. 1.—Warner Miller reached Herkimer last night and found awaiting him the following dispatch:

The Hon. Warner Miller: The alarm about and danger of the introduction of cholera has made it necessary that I should abandon for the present my trip north and go to-night to Washington to be sure that no official precaution is omitted to protect our people against the threatened scourge. I will make the contemplated trip at a later date to be named. Sorry to miss seeing you.

(Signed.) BENJAMIN HARRISON.

New York, Sept. 1.—The agents of the Hamburg-American Packet company, to which line the plagueship Moravia belongs, have now decided to abandon its immigrant service entirely. The last steamer carrying emigrants left Hamburg yesterday.

It was the Bohemia, which carries 98 cabin and 496 steerage passengers.

The other ships of the line now in transit carrying immigrants are the Rugia, which cleared Hamburg on August 24, the Normannia, August 28 and the Scandia, August 27.

All steamship agents yesterday renewed their assurances of vigilance to keep the disease from New York.

New York, Sept. 1.—The New York health board has issued the following circular:

Healthy persons "catch" cholera by taking into their systems through the mouth, as in their food or drink, or from their hands, knives, forks, plates, tumblers, clothing, etc., the germs of the disease which are always present in the discharges from the stomach and bowels of those sick with cholera.

Thorough cooking destroys the cholera germs; therefore,

Don't eat raw, uncooked articles of any kind, not even milk.

Don't eat or drink to excess. Use plain, wholesome, digestible food, as indigestion and diarrhoea favor an attack of cholera.

Don't drink unboiled water.

Don't eat or drink articles unless they have been thoroughly and recently cooked or boiled, and the more recent and hotter they are, the safer.

Don't employ utensils in eating or drinking unless they have been recently put in boiling water; the more recent, the safer.

Don't eat or handle food or drink with unwashed hands, or receive from the unwashed hands of others.

Don't use the hands for any purpose when soiled with cholera discharges; thoroughly cleanse them at once.

Personal cleanliness, and cleanliness of the living and sleeping rooms and their contents, and thorough ventilation should be rigidly enforced. Foul water-closets, sinks, Croton faucets, cellars, etc., should be avoided, and when present should be referred to the health board at once and be remedied.

Precautionary Measures of Treatment.

The successful treatment and the prevention of the spread of this disease demand that its earliest manifestations be promptly recognized and treated; therefore:

Don't doctor yourself for bowel complaint, but go to bed and send for the nearest physician at once. Send for your family physician; send to a dispensary or hospital; send to the health department; send to the nearest police station for medical aid.

Don't wait, but send at once. If taken ill in the street seek the nearest drug store, dispensary, hospital or police station and demand prompt medical attention.

Don't permit vomit or diarrhoeal discharges to come in contact with food, drink or clothing. These discharges should be received in proper vessels and kept covered until removed under competent directions. Pour boiling water on them, put a strong solution of carbolic acid in them (not less than one part of acid to twenty of hot soap suds or water).

Don't wear, handle or use any articles of clothing or furniture that are soiled with cholera discharges. Pour boiling water on them or put them into it, and scrub them with the carbolic acid solution mentioned above, and promptly request the health board to remove them.

Don't be frightened, but do be cautious and avoid excesses and unnecessary exposures of every kind.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 1.—The official cholera returns from all Russia shows a total of 4,859 new cases and 2,529 deaths, a decrease of 1,285 in the new cases and 212 in deaths, and a mortality of slightly over 52 per cent. In St. Petersburg yesterday there were 123 new cases and 40 deaths. The figures for Tuesday were 155 new cases and 51 deaths.

Quarantine, S. I., Sept. 1.—The Hamburg-American Packet company's steamship Moravia, which was sent from quarantine to Gravesend bay yesterday, where she remained until this morning, has been ordered to lower quarantine, two miles south of Swinburne Island. Dr. Sanborn reports that no new cases have developed on board the Moravia.

The steerage passengers of the Netherlands steamer Veendam were sent to Hoffman Island this morning for bath. The baggage will be disinfected off Hoffman Island. Capt. Vandersee refused to allow its disinfection on board.

Dr. Jenkins will visit the health department in New York this morning to attend the meeting of the board of health.

The Gallia and Lahn are detained until the five day order of procedure can be accomplished. The Gallia has 275 Russians and 140 Poles on board. The Gallia left Liverpool August 23, the Lahn sailed for Bremen on August 23, and Southampton on the 24th. Her passengers are a first-class lot, cleanly and respectable. The saloon passengers on the Gallia and Lahn will probably land before night. The Circassia and Teutonic will be discharged this forenoon.

Later—10:20 a. m.—The Anchor line steamer Circassia, which arrived in quarantine Tuesday evening has been released and proceeded to her dock.

Boston, Sept. 1.—The state board of health has issued orders not to allow immigrants from the British Islands or Scandinavia to come into the port of Boston without the fumigation of themselves and their baggage.

City Physician Little, of Lynn, states that should cholera strike that city an epidemic would be inevitable, owing to the condition of the harbor and marshes. Baggage is at present dumped on the west Lynn marshes pending the adoption of some satisfactory system for its disposition.

Detroit, Sept. 1.—Detroit has one man in quarantine. He is Sylvester Kaminsky, who arrived from Hamburg yesterday. Inspector Corcoran found that Kaminsky had no certificate of inspection from New York and as he came from an infected port he was held to await developments.

A Grand Trunk train arriving here this morning had a female passenger from Bremen whose ticket showed that she left that port August 20. She held no certificates of disinfection or examination from either New York or Port Huron. Dr. Corcoran, finding the woman in apparently good health permitted her to go on to her destination, Chicago.

Columbus, O., Sept. 1.—A special circular issued by the state board of health states that it is quite unreasonable to hope that cholera will be kept from the United States, and that once on the Atlantic coast its advancement inland is likely to be rapid.

With cities in good sanitary condition, the board holds there could be little to be feared, but adds that there are few cities in Ohio in good sanitary condition. Cholera is a filth disease. It is the duty of the hour for local boards of health to enforce at once a general cleaning up. This can not be too thorough and too prompt. Individuals in their homes should adopt the same measures. Damp cellars are specially dangerous.

If cholera comes, individuals should pay special attention to the ordinary health rules, avoid contact with cholera infected persons and things. Ejections from cholera patients, their bedding, clothing and everything should be burned. Well water in cities and towns should be avoided, and all water used for drinking and in cooking should be boiled.

The germs of cholera must actually be swallowed in order to infect a person with the disease. Unlike germs of small-pox, scarlet fever, etc., germs of cholera do not float in the air, so that with intelligent care it is more easily controlled than either of the other two diseases.

Copies of this circular are to be spread broadcast over the state.

New York, Sept. 1.—General Freight Manager F. R. Cortis, of the Hamburg-American line, when seen by a reporter of the United Press in reference to the cases of cholera on board the Moravia said:

"We had no knowledge of the 22 deaths on the Moravia until notified by the papers. We immediately telephoned to quarantine and received word that Health Officer Jenkins was on board and would send a full report as soon as he came off. This was at 1 o'clock. We were also told that the steamship had not been ordered to the lower bay. We know nothing further than that."

New York, Sept. 1.—The Asiatic cholera reached the port of New York on board the steamship Moravia, 22 deaths occurring during the 10 days since she was on the ocean. Two patients, both adults, are recovering from the disease on board ship. Although she arrived Tuesday night, the Moravia was not sent from the upper to lower quarantine with the yellow flag flying until almost yesterday. She is now there, and with her passengers will not be released from the eyes of the health authorities until every known means is employed in stamping out the plague. Dr. Jenkins is hopeful that he will be able to keep the cholera away from the city of New York. Last night he was a very much worried man. He has ordered the transfer of the Moravia's passengers to Hoffman island, and will not only make a personal examination of the disease as it is aboard the ship, but he will also confer with the health authorities of this city, and consider ways and means to keep it from entering the city. More vessels will arrive from Hamburg this week.

It is probable that further deaths will be reported, and cases in their worst form, it is now conceded, may arrive within the next few days. The situation is serious. Unless all immigration from infected ports is stopped, it is not believed that this country is safe, and it is believed now that this step will be taken.

Hamburg, Sept. 1.—There is no questioning the fact that the present cholera epidemic is the worst that has ever visited this city, and every hour the situation becomes worse. The people are dying off like sheep and the plague is spreading. It was thought early yesterday that the epidemic was abating in virulence, the number of new cases and deaths reported for Monday being far below those of the day preceding. Unfortunately this was not the case.

It was only a temporary halt in the march of the plague, and now it is again marching forward, mowing down its victims by the score.

A fearful feeling of apprehension hangs over the whole city, and the belief that the doctors are helpless to fight the scourge grows in strength.

The people feel that they are helpless in the face of the terrible visitation that has come on them, and many of them have given up hope of escaping the disease. This in itself is a calamity, for courage is one of the essential factors in fighting the epidemic. The representative of the United Press here has seen in the military drill shed the bodies of four hundred victims awaiting burial.

Owing to red tape it is impossible to bury all the dead under the usual regulations, for the law requires the production of papers of identification before the body is consigned to the grave. Under ordinary circumstances these papers are easily procurable, but now when whole families have been carried off by the scourge the greatest difficulty is experienced in getting the papers. Unless the frightful mortality abates it will be necessary to shortly set aside the law and bury the victims as hastily as possible. Already it is believed that the infection has been spread by the dead.

Bitter imprecations are heaped upon the authorities for their pig-headedness in letting the victims lie unburied to scatter the contagion among the living, while they hunted for papers to show the age, occupation, etc., of the dead persons. A reign of terror prevails, and every person who can possibly do so is fleeing the city. An exception must be made, however, to this assertion.

Those whose duty calls them to attend the sufferings—physicians—and those who have nobly volunteered their services, are doing a work that requires the extreme of heroism. Among the hospitals everywhere where they can help they take their lives in their hands without hope of fame or reward, and do their utmost to alleviate the awful sufferings of the plague stricken victims.

The ordinary form of burial will soon have to be abandoned, and trenches filled with quicklime will have to be resorted to. In many parts of the city the shops of grocers, bakers, and butchers have been closed by the police, the owners and their salesmen having been stricken down while attending to business.

The Prussian ministry of war has ordered the garrison lazaretto at Altona to supply the Hamburg hospitals with 500 beds. The registrars who record the deaths in the city will keep their offices opened until 10 o'clock every night.

During the 24 hours ended at midnight last night the ambulance conveyed to the hospital 508 patients. Of this number 268 have since died.

The Chamber of Commerce has organized a relief committee. The cholera victims now more frequently that at first are persons of the middle and upper classes. Dr. Mersch, who was the musical critic on the staff of the Nachtrichten, is among the dead.

A large stove has been placed at the Bourse to facilitate the distribution of boiling water to the public. Disinfectants are being supplied gratis to the poor.

The management of the Stadt theater announces the postponement of its opening till September 16.

London, Sept. 1.—There is no denying the fact that the people of England generally are beginning to be nervously apprehensive that, despite the quarantine regulations at the various ports, the country is doomed to undergo another siege of the cholera plague. That the quarantine regulations at present enforced do not prevent the introduction of cholera has been abundantly proved and many persons claim that the only effectual method to keep the disease at bay is to absolutely prohibit all intercourse with the infected ports abroad. Of course, this would entail an immense money loss and considerable suffering, but it is claimed that on occasions like the present the question of financial loss is of little consequence, and that the question of preserving the lives of the people of Great Britain is of paramount importance.

A large proportion of the people, not only in England, but elsewhere, believe that the approaching autumn, with its cool weather and frosts, will check if not eradicate the disease should it become epidemic, but a high authority has pointed out that this belief is erroneous. Prof. J. O. Affleck, M. D., medical examiner at the university of Edinburgh, has declared in an article written by him, that in general high temperature favors the development of the disease, but that some of the most severe epidemics known have raged with the greatest fury in winter. This being the case it will be seen that there can be no relaxation of the quarantine and sanitary regulations for a considerable time to come.

The disease has now appeared at Dover, one of the chief ports of communication between England and the continent, and which has continual intercourse by steamboats with Calais and Boulogne, France. Three persons have been attacked with a choleric disorder at Dover, and one of them has died. It is not positively asserted that this disease is Asiatic cholera, but the presumption is that it is.

There is deep indignation felt at the health authorities for permitting the passengers to land on Monday last from the steamer Peregrino, from Hamburg. These passengers were carefully examined and as no symptoms of cholera were shown they were allowed to go ashore with the result that they have introduced the disease into one of the most densely populated quarters of London. The dangerous character of the disease and the inefficiency of an examination to show whether or not people from infected ports carry the infection with them is shown in this case.

These dispatches announced yesterday that two cases of the disease appeared yesterday in the city road, the sufferers being passengers from the Peregrino. This morning one of the patients, a German, died, and now his wife and child have been seized with the disease. As before said, the district into which the infection has been carried is filled with an immense population. Overcrowding is a fruitful source for the spread of the disease and it will require every aid known to science to prevent the disease from spreading. The people of the district are loud in their denunciation of what they term the happy go lucky methods of the health authorities and declare that if the only precautionary measure that would avail anything—absolute prohibition of immigration—had been enforced the disease would not have appeared in London.

SUICIDE IN JAIL.

Cleveland, O., Sept. 1.—John Kolesar, a Hungarian who hash een in jail since jail since November last for murdering, was found hanging in his cell early this morning. When the body was cut down life was found to be extinct. The rope with which he hanged himself was made by twisting up a sheet. Kolesar was awaiting trial.

Such is the Determination of Uncle Sam.

Important Meeting at the White House.

While No General Alarm is Felt.

Every Step Will be Taken to Keep Out the Cholera.

The President's Powers in the Case Considered—An Appeal From the Governor of Michigan for Aid.

Washington, Sept. 1.—The president, Attorney General Miller, Secretary Charles Foster, Assistant Secretary Spaulding, and Dr. Wyman, supervising surgeon general of the United States Marine Hospital service, were in conference at the executive mansion at noon to-day considering the cholera situation.

The president only pausing to take breakfast after his arrival immediately summoned these gentlemen by telegraph for consultation.

Attorney General Miller was called into the conference to define the power of the president to suspend the operation of the law admitting immigrants into the United States during the prevalence of a pestilence abroad: also to give his opinion as to what extent the prohibition of immigration could be enforced until state quarantine regulations were fixed and, in a word, to counsel with the president upon all matters affecting his legal powers to act.

Secretary Foster as the head of the treasury department, which has the direct enforcement of the immigrant laws, as well as the general supervision of the marine hospital service, was naturally present to inform the president as to what action has already been taken, and Assistant Secretary Spaulding and Dr. Wyman, as the officers under whose personal direction all action is taken, were there to inform the president as to the work already done and contemplated, and to receive such suggestions as he deemed wise to put into practical effect.

The protection of the Canadian border is receiving close attention. The secretary of the treasury received a letter from the governor of Michigan requesting him to detail an additional force of inspectors between Detroit and Sault Ste. Marie during the prevalence of cholera.

Secretary Foster replied that the request would be granted and an extra force of medical inspectors would be detailed for duty in Michigan.

Private Secretary Halford, while the conference was in session, said to a representative of the United Press that there was no likelihood of the president's issuing a proclamation on the subject nor was there any occasion for alarm.

The president had deemed it prudent to come here and personally confer with his associates on the cholera situation and acquaint himself with what had been done rather than to make the subject one of correspondence. The latter course would involve considerable time and labor and not be nearly as satisfactory.

The president, added Mr. Halford, will remain in Washington several days and longer if necessary until everything that can be done is done to keep out cholera. The president expressed himself during the consultation, which lasted two hours, as entirely satisfied with the steps thus far taken by all the United States officers.

As a result of the conference, which adjourned at 12 o'clock, a circular will be issued by the treasury department this afternoon, approved by the president, giving supplemental instructions to collectors of customs and marine hospital officers concerning further restrictions to prevent the introduction of cholera into the United States.

Additional inspectors are being appointed in the New England states, along the Canadian border. Medical inspection will be established at St. Albans, Newport, Richford and Island Pond, Va.

JUMPED AT A DRAW.

Newspaper Train in a Bad Accident.

A Mile a Minute Onto a Draw Bridge That Had Not Been Locked.

Newburg, N. Y., Sept. 1.—The fast mail train on the Hudson River railroad met with an accident at the New Hamburg draw bridge to-day.

The train was going at the rate of a mile a minute and the bridge was just being closed after letting a steamer go through. Several feet remained yet to be closed just as the train reached the bridge. The engine jumped the gap, but the rear end of the tender dropped enough to check the momentum of the train.

Then the mail car crashed into the tender and pushed it against the locomotive. The rear end of the locomotive and the mail car was splintered.

The engineer, Joseph Owens, of Albany, and the fireman, Edward Best, of East Albany, were crushed under the forward end of the cab and instantly killed.

J. H. King, of Cohoes, N. Y., a clerk in the mail car, was also killed. The tracks were obstructed for some time.

Conductor Wm. Todd was injured about the head and John Hitchcock, a trainman, had his finger cut off. Much of the mail matter was destroyed.

Kansas City, Sept. 1.—It is stated that a wholesale discharge of passenger train conductors on the Santa Fe and other railroads will begin to-day and continue until every one of the old men have been dismissed.

The reasons for dismissal are not clearly stated, but it is believed to be the result of an investigation set on foot a few weeks ago, in which it developed that the conductors were carrying passengers for less than the regular fare and pocketing the amount charged.

LABOR TROUBLES.

Mill Men in Wisconsin Bound to Carry Their Point.

Rhinelander, Wis., Sept. 1.—The striking mill men have gained accessions to their ranks until they can now number 500 men, who twice yesterday—peaceably when it so happened and forcibly when it did not—walked crews, who were willing to work, out of the mills and now 1,200 men are idle, 60 per cent. of whom would return at work could they do so peaceably.

The sheriff and his deputies have made no effort to control the mob, as the effort would be useless. The mills cannot run until the difficulty is adjusted or protection given to the crews which want to work.

No troops have been called for, but unless they are it will mean a shut down for some time.

BROTHER OF A KING.

Prof. Jean Roemer, Author and Soldier, Dead.

Brief Sketch of a Man Who Has Had a Most Interesting Career.

New York, Sept. 1.—Prof. Jean Roemer, author, soldier, and scholar, vice president of the college of the city of New York, half brother of the late William II., king of Holland, was found dead yesterday morning in his room at the Curtis house, Lennox, Mass. He was 88 years old. Heart disease was the cause of death.

Prof. Roemer, who was the illegitimate relative of Alexander Paul Frederick Louis William II., king of the Netherlands, Prince of Orange-Nassau, grand duke of Lexemburg, and duke of Limburg, who died at The Hague, November 23, 1880, was born in England. Before the death of his father, William I., which occurred in 1849, the Dutch people were desirous of calling Jean Roemer back to Holland with a view of his succession to the throne.

In infancy Jean Roemer was taken to Hanover and afterwards to Holland. His early education was conducted by private tutors. The boy was destined for the army. He served on the Dutch side in the war of secession between Holland and Belgium and was a brilliant soldier. At the conclusion of the war he completed his studies in Lombardy under the guidance of Field Marshal Count Radetsky.

Some time after the death of his father Roemer set forth claims to titles and estates, the right to which was denied him. Strong efforts on behalf of the claimant availed nothing. In 1863 at a congress of German sovereigns an attempt at conciliation produced no satisfactory result.

In 1848 Prof. Roemer became professor of French in the New York free academy. In 1869 he was appointed vice-president of the college of the city of New York, a post he held up to the hour of his death. His department of instruction was French and French literature. Among the works he published were a "Dictionary of English-French Idioms," "Cavalry, Its History, Management and Uses in War," and "Origins of the English People and of the English Language."

PLATT DIDN'T STAY.

The Conference of the Leaders at White Plains.

The Sulking Politician Left for New York Immediately After the Conference.

White Plains, Sept. 1.—When the president appeared here yesterday he was cordially greeted by Mr. Reid. The president was luckily surrounded by a large number of White Plains citizens, who were anxious to shake hands with him. The president looked in good health, and was in excellent spirits.

He got into Mr. Reid's private carriage, and the two candidates rode side by side to Ophir Farm. The other gentlemen of the president's party rode in another carriage.

Ex-Senator Platt was on hand, accompanied by John E. Milholland, and when they arrived they were received on the piazza by Mr. Reid and D. O. Mills. Mr. Platt was at once conducted into the reception room, where a meeting followed between the president and the ex-senator.

After conferring with the president for nearly two hours Mr. Platt accompanied by John E. Milholland, took the 2:35 train for New York. Senator Aldrich remained closeted with the president the greater part of the afternoon, and took the 4 p. m. train for New York.

At 6 o'clock Chairman Carter, who had gone to New York immediately after the president's arrival, returned, accompanied by Russell Harrison and James S. Clarkson.

At 7:30 Mr. Reid and his guests sat down to dinner. The dinner party consisted of the president, Chairman Carter, James S. Clarkson, S. V. R. Cruger, James Phillips, jr., John A. Schlecher, E. W. Halford, D. O. Mills, Ogden Mills, Russell Harrison, Mr. Reid, Mrs. Reid, Miss Reid, L. E. Quigg, B. F. Tibbott and C. W. Tyson.

Just before the party repaired to the dining room the president received two dispatches, both of the same tenor. One was from Secretary of the Treasurer Foster, and the other from Attorney General Miller. They officially notified the president that cholera had made its appearance within the jurisdiction of the United States, and that they desired to confer with him relative to the steps which must be taken to prevent its spread—either by proclamation prohibiting all further immigration until the abatement of the plague—or a similar step. The president at once decided to cancel all his engagements and start for Washington.

About 9 o'clock about 500 of the citizens of White Plains, headed by the White Plains band, and delegations from Port Chester and Rye, headed by the Port Chester band, marched to the farm to serenade the president. The party at Mr. Reid's upon the arrival of the serenaders went upon the piazza.

Speeches were made by Mr. Reid and the president. The latter stated that the danger that a dreadful plague may force itself into this country called him imperatively to Washington to consult with his associates whether further precautions may be taken under the laws to protect the homes of the people.

Hardly had the crowd dispersed when Mr. Reid's carriage was driven to the door, and the president, accompanied by Mr. Reid, and several of the guests, started for the depot. The president's car "Traveler," which had been telegraphed for to New York, was in waiting. The party boarded the train and started for New York. But one stop was made between this place and Forty-second street. The train slowed up at Mount Vernon for a moment to allow Mr. Reid to alight in order that he might catch a train back.

THE PEOPLE ARE EXCITED

Canada Takes Action on the Seized Sealers.

A Vigorous Protest Sent to Ottawa.

Steps Taken to Warn the Cruising Vessels to Look Out for Russian Warships.

Victoria, B. C., Sept. 1.—When the complete story of one American and three Canadian schooners being seized off the Russian coast was read yesterday the excitement throughout the city became intense.

A meeting of the British Columbia Sealers' association was hurriedly called and the case was discussed in all its phases.

The meeting was held with closed doors and the only fact reported was that the solicitor for the association had been instructed to prepare a full statement of the details of the case to be telegraphed to Sir John Abbott, premier of the dominion at Ottawa.

Theodore Davis, provincial premier, also took the matter up and has had affidavits embodying the main facts prepared for the use of the department at Ottawa.

The British Columbia board of trade also prepared a memorial on the subject which was forwarded by wire to Ottawa.

According to the records of the sealing association there are yet 43 sealing schooners out, all having had instructions after getting the coast catch to go over on the Russian and Japan coasts. Certain it is that of these some will be seized, and if the same course of action is taken the others may be left to perish on the barren shore of Bering island, while the valuable schooners will undoubtedly meet the same fate as those already seized and destroyed.

The loss will be enormous, each of the schooners being valued at between $5,000 and $20,000. A request has been sent to Admiral Hotham to send a warship to the Russian coast to protect the British interests.

READY FOR BATTLE.

Wisconsin Democrats Again in the Field.

The Whole State Ticket Re-Nominated on a Ringing Platform.

Milwaukee, Sept. 1.—The Academy of Music yesterday contained one of the largest gatherings of democrats ever held in the state. It was the first state convention since the one which preceded the political landslide some years ago, and was more in the order of a love feast, as it had long been known that the state ticket would be renominated by acclamation.

Chairman Wall announced that Burr W. Jones of Madison had been selected as temporary chairman. He made a speech in which he recited the record of the democratic state administration since it came into power in the state and held up the republican party to scorn for its course in forcing the educational issue and then repudiating it.

The platform is devoted chiefly to state issues; setting forth the fulfillment of the party pledges in repealing the Bennett school law, and bringing suits against former state treasurers for the repayment of interest on state funds. It concludes as follows:

"We are opposed to, and will combat, the abhorrent doctrine of centralization and paternalization. * * * We oppose sumptuary laws as unnecessary and unwise. We indorse the action of the national democrats in nominating Cleveland and Stevenson, and giving cheerful allegiance to the principles enunciated by the Chicago platform.

After the adoption of the platform the entire ticket, as follows, was renominated in one speech, made by Thomas F. Frawley of Eu Claire:

Governor—George W. Peck, of Milwaukee.

Lieutenant-governor—Carl Jonas, of Racine.

Secretary of state—T. J. Cunningham, of Chippewa.

State treasurer—John Hunner, of Eu Claire.

Attorney-general—J. L. O'Connor, of Dane.

State superintendent—Oliver E. Wells, of Outgamo.

Railroad commissioner—Thomas Thompson, of Trempealeau.

Insurance commissioner—Wilbur M. Root, of Cheboygan.

Gov. Peck and all others on the ticket made speeches. E. C. Wall was re-elected chairman of the state central committee for two years, beginning next January. Gen. E. S. Bragg and Congressman John T. Mitchell, both candidates for the United States senate, made speeches before the convention.

FINDLAY.

Sunday Law Violator Before the Court—General Mention.

Findlay, Sept. 1.—(Special)—The several I. O. O. F. lodges of Hancock county held their second annual picnic at McComb today. There was a large attendance and an enjoyable time.

Squire Carlin, Findlay's oldest citizen, had a serious fall while coming down the court house steps last evening. He was painfully bruised but no bones were broken. He is past 94 years old.

The republicans throughout the eight wards of the city selected the delegates for the county convention, to be held Saturday, Sept. 10th. There is a great scramble for the different county offices.

Findlay's Labor Day celebration next Monday will surpass all past efforts. Over 3,000 men will be in line, showing Findlay's strength as a union city.

Freight Inspector Cole, of the C., H. & D., has been transferred to his former home, Indianapolis.

The first annual reunion of the Wickham family will be held on Sept. 17th at the old family residence in Blanchard township.

Charles Karst, one of the city letter carriers, was married to-day to Miss Stella, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Ward.

The City Gas company has purchased $8,000 worth of water works bonds at par from the surplus earnings.

Daniel Le Van was tried to-day before Mayor Wattenbrg on the charge of violating the Sunday ordinance. He was also arrested by Officer H. Bassett, of Toledo, on the serious charge of selling beer without retail government license.

SANDUSKY COUNTY PIONEERS.

Fremont, O., Sept. 1.—The Sandusky County Pioneer and Historical society held its twentieth annual reunion to-day in this city, which was largely attended. Ex-President Hayes was president of the day. A. Anderson, aged 92 years, received a fine bouquet for being the oldest pioneer present. Mrs. Tucker, aged 91 years 6 months, was also present, and was similarly awarded.

DEATH OF JESSE R. PURNELL.

Bellaire, O., Sept. 1.—Jesse R. Purnell, aged 63 years, after a couple months' illness with heart trouble, died at his suburban home near this city. He was one of the widest known Free Masons in the United States, being a leading member of Mt. Calvary Chapter, Parkersburg, W. Va., and was taken in as a 33rd degree Mason at Boston, Mass., Sept. 10, 1891. He was a prominent republican.

In one of the Protestant Episcopal dioceses of Michigan a recent convention struck out the word "male" from the constitutional provision relating to the election of parish wardens and vestrymen.

NANCY HANKS AGAIN.

She Trots a Kite-Shaped Mile in 2:05 1-4.

First Quarter in 0:30 and the Half in 1:01.

News of the Diamond and Ring—General Sporting Gossip.

Independence, Ia., Sept. 1.—Nancy Hanks, the queen of horsedom, added a shining star to her crown yesterday when she trotted the world famous kite track at this place in the unprecedented time of 2:05 1-4, clipping two seconds off her Chicago mark made two weeks ago. She was brought out at 2:30, and as soon as she was recognized in the loop the cheering began. She looked well and her superior condition was easily discernable.

Frank Starr had the runner, Abe Lincoln, who prompted her in her great mile at Chicago, near her, while Williams, with Ned Gordon, was waiting at the post. When she reached the wire she was going square and true and Doble nodded for the word. From the word "go" Nancy trotted as only Nancy can trot; a steady clock work and swifter than a bird. With her matchless swinging gait she reached the quarter pole in 30 seconds. The half was reached in 1:01, and men who catch the figure on their dials find it hard to believe. Without taking eyes from the world beater, they ask their neighbors his time, and are bound to accept the mark. The third quarter flag goes down at 1:31, and fearing that she is lagging, Williams closes up with his runner, Ned Gordon.

The act is useless. Doble has loosed her head and is urging her on gently with whip and voice. As she darts under the wire there is deathlike silence. Watches are consulted and range all the way from 2:05 1-4 to 2:06. No man dares tell the time caught and each spectator assures himself that the time is gone in 2:06 at least. Cheers were sent up as the great horse is driven back to the stand. But a hush falls over all as the bell is tapped. Starter McCarthy announces the official time of 2:05 1-4 and his voice is drowned with yells. The grooms give the mare a loving caress as they adjust the blankets and many willing hands, only too anxious to touch the queen of the turf, assist in arranging the folds. Doble is lifted from the sulky, both arms are wrung sore by congratulatory friends and huzzahs sound above the din for Nancy, for Doble, and for the kite track.

Yesterday was a great day for Independence, and the 8,000 people who congratulated [illegible] assembled in the amphitheater witnessed great sport. Besides Nancy Hanks' great feat, Flying Jib, in the 2:20 $5,000 pace, did the mile in 2:07, breaking the world's pacing record on a race. He was barred from the pools in the race. Rocker was picked for second winner, but Reflector was the gamey second horse and soon sold favorite. Flying Jib won the first two heats in fast time, but capped the climax by pacing the third heat in 2:07.

As base ball has not proven so remunerative this season as was anticipated, or, rather as the league undertook a big financial burden to restore base ball to something like its normal condition, the stockholders of the various clubs have been compelled to "go down in their pockets" to some extent this summer. The first assessment to meet outstanding liabilities was 10 per cent. It was found that this would not be sufficient, so the assessment was increased to 12 1-2 per cent. Now President Young writes that 12 1-2 per cent. is not great enough and the amount has been increased to 16 2-3 per cent. This falls hard upon all the clubs, but more particularly upon the Cleveland club, which seemed to be reasonably certain of clearing itself of all financial encumbrances this season. Whether it will do that now is an open question. It is probable that the first of November will see the club's account still on the debit side of the ledger. However, there will be some consolation in the fact that the indebtedness will not be as embarrassing at the commencement of the season of 1893 as it was when the year 1892 began.

Without the least desire to awaken unpleasant memories or recall matters that are past and gone, it must be apparent to the observation of every shrewd ball player who is possessed of common sense, what mischievous results have come from the disastrous upheaval of 1890 and the war of 1891. Had not the trouble arisen more than four times the amount of money now invested in the game would have been put in for new grounds in Chicago and Cincinnati alone. Capital was scared out, however, and since 1889 it has been a herculean task to restore the old condition of affairs. In fact, it is about as President Soden, of the Boston club, said at Indianapolis after the 12-club league was organized. "Now," he remarked to the writer, "we have got base ball about where it was in 1882. It will be necessary to rebuild it all over again to restore it to what it was in 1889." The present season is bearing this statement out in every particular.—Cleveland Leader.

New York, Sept. 1.—Everybody in sporting circles seems to be worked up to a high pitch of excitement over the fast approaching battle between John L. Sullivan and James J. Corbett. Monday was a great "sizing up" day, and there were but few of the thoroughbreds who did not look both men over very closely. They all have their own opinions now and they are backing them up with their good hard dollars. While many expressed surprise at Sullivan's large stomach and much has been said by the press, still it has not affected the betting in the least, and Sullivan's friends are still loyal to him and their money is still allowed to go begging at the large odds of $100 to $60. That is the best evidence in the world that Sully is all right and in good shape to enter the ring.

Dick Toner, who is widely known as a trainer of prize fighters and a handler of game cocks and dogs, predicts a short fight. He lives within about four miles of Corbett's training quarters and he has spent considerable time with the tall Californian and is perfectly familiar with his training tactics and style of fighting. He said that it was Corbett's intention to stand right up and fight and Corbett is of the opinion that he can fight just as fast as Sullivan, and the faster the big fellow fights the better he will like it. Toner thinks Corbett is an exceptionally good man, but by no means Sullivan's equal when it comes to hitting power.

Frank Stevenson, who refereed the Dempsey-Reagan fight and many other notable mills, said that he and Sullivan have been on the outs ever since the Sullivan-Kilrain fight, but that did not interfere in the least with his opinion, as he thinks Sullivan has a "cinch" and will win in a gallop. He thinks Sullivan is in better condition now than he was ever in before, and he has seen all his fights, even his battle in Europe with Charley Mitchell. Sullivan is fighting this time fully 20 pounds lighter than at any of his previous battles, is more active and can strike a quicker and harder blow. He sized both men up very thoroughly and is more than pleased with Sullivan's appearance, and stands ready to bet $1,000 to $600 the moment he can find any man willing to risk $600 on Corbett, or any fraction of that amount down to $10 to $6. He continued:

"Sullivan is fighting under Queensbury rules, the very style he wants, as all his other finish fights have been on the turf, where he has sunk into the sand pretty nearly up to his ankles, and has tired himself out carrying his heavy weight. He is a man of wonderful endurance, as was clearly shown when he fought over three hours with Kilrain in the boiling hot sun, while the spectators were almost suffocated with the heat; and they were merely looking on, and not taking any exercise whatever.

"He has Corbett just where he wants him, as there can be no dropping down business to kill time, but he will have to stand right up and fight or else run away, and, if he runs away, God help him. For he will find that Sullivan can run as fast as he can, and he will get caught so soon that it will make his head swim."

HE WAS A THIEF.

Judge Blaine Caught Tapping a Till.

A Grocery Keeper Who Could Not Afford to Keep Him in Spending Money.

New York, Sept. 1.—A special to the World, from Brunswick, Ga., says: Judge Wm. R. Blaine, the ordinary of Glynn county, and one of the most popular men in this state, was caught stealing money yesterday from the safe of Grocer Michaelson.

The merchant was absent from the store at the time. He has lost nearly $2,000 during the past six months and he set a trap for the thief. A policeman was secreted in the store.

The merchant went out, leaving the outer door open. Judge Blaine walked in soon after Michaelson left. He went to the safe and took a handful of silver from the cash drawer. He was at once taken into custody by the policeman.

SOCIAL SCIENCE.

The Reading Combine Receives Attention.

Four Hundred Thousand Supported by the Road.

An Interesting Paper Read at the Meeting in Saratoga by Prof. Wayland.

Saratoga, N. Y., Sept. 1.—To-day was devoted to the department of jurisprudence by the American Social Science association, which is drawing near to the close of its annual meeting.

The morning session wa sopened by remarks by the chairman of the department, Prof. Francis Wayland, of New Haven, Conn. A remarkable and most important paper was read by C. Larue Munson, of Williamsport, Pa., upon the "Reading Leases and the Great Coal Combine." Speaking of the quick growth of the Reading railroad he gave these figures:

"The Reading system now controls 5,583 miles of railroad; traverses a territory containing nearly 10,000,000 people; by means of 1,718 locomotives and 113,206 cars annually carries 40,000,000 of passengers, moves 50,000,000 tons of freight and earns about $57,000,000; while with its affiliated companies it has a capital and indebtedness of $511,000,000, and employs 83,900 wage earners, among whom it annually distributes $37,000,000 directly supporting more than 400,000 people.

"These are days of great aggregations of capital and Titanic financial and commercial combinations. That which may be accomplished by consolidations and associations of reciprocal interests, cannot be obtained in a like degree of efficiency through individual efforts, however well they may be directed or skilfully conducted.

"This is the keynote of our national organization and is the mainspring by which our nation, by union of states has advanced to her present commanding position under the family of nations. * * *

"America's history can point to no element in the story of her progress more productive of national benefit than the consolidation of her railway interests. There has been no exception to the invariable rule that the combination, or in other words, the strengthening of her railways has resulted in a benefit to her people.

"It is absurd to assume that the effect of the Reading leases will be to exert unreasonable prices for anthracite coal, by creating a monopoly driving out all competition, for it must not be forgotten that nearly 20,000,000 tons, or about one-half of the market, are annually mined by interests far from identical with the Reading and certainly in no manner within its control, while yearly a hundred million tons of bituminous coal, raised from mines and areas containing deposits of incalculable tonnage, stand at the door of the market, prepared to meet anthracite prices raised beyond fair returns to its operators."

Another interesting paper was read by Edward B. Merrill, of New York, who took for his subject "County Jails as Reformatory Institutions." He said that it was useless to expect that the sheriffs or the jailers who were appointed by political power would aid in trying to reform prisoners. He gave a striking example of the way jails are conducted in many places by citing a case where men and women were allowed to converse in the most obscene way. If things were changed the jailer might lose his place because of the improvement of morals, so he makes no attempt. In preventing crime he believed that all jail officials should be under the supervision of a charity board and the state board of health. Congress should forbid emigrants landing in whose family there had been a criminal for the past three generations; a strenuous, compulsory education law and an absolute jail delivery every 30 days.

RECIPROCITY.

The Convention Opened in Grand Forks.

Over a Thousand Delegates Meet to Discuss This Important Question.

Grand Forks, N. D., Sept. 1.—The international reciprocity convention began its deliberations in this city this afternoon with an attendance of representative financiers and business men from this country and Canada.

There are nearly one thousand delegates, coming from as far east as Buffalo and from all parts of British America, and representing the chambers of commerce and other business organizations of all the large cities of the northwest.

The movement owes its inception to the chamber of commerce of this city, and the hearty response which greeted the original proposition has led to a large increase in the membership and proposed work of the convention.

The gathering is strictly non-partisan, and will discuss measures for closer relations between the two nations, lake navigation, the extension of a deep water channel from Buffalo to the sea along the natural route, the St. Lawrence river; the extension of railway communication, and other matters upon which concerted action would prove of benefit to both countries. Secretary McGinnis, of the chamber of commerce, received a letter some weeks ago from M. E. Reynolds, of Toronto, who has attained wide celebrity as a constitutional lawyer.

Mr. Reynolds suggests eight points upon which he thinks the convention should take action, and his suggestions will probably form the basis of the work of the gathering.

They are as follows:

1. No duty by either country on natural products shipped between the two.

2. Anything from any other country shall pass through the customs of each and be collected for at the point to which consigned.

3. Each country shall be entitled to full privileges of the canals and waterways of the other.

4. All railways shall have the right of way through any state or province according to the laws of such state or province.

5. Both shall co-operate in maintaining waterways from the lakes to the Atlantic, and the right over the same shall be equal in all respects.

6. Coins of one country shall be accepted at par value in the other.

7. All vessels, not including armed vessels, shall have equal rights in the harbors and waters of both countries.

8. Citizens of either country shall have the right to carry on their occupation in the other country on the same terms as the citizens of that other country.

DESHLER.

The Four-County Fair a Decided Success.

Deshler, O., Sept. 1.—(Special.)—The Four-County Fair company closed a most successful week last Saturday. It is acknowledged by all that this was the best fair held here yet. New grounds must be procured for the next fair, as the lease on the present location has expired and can not be renewed.

Ground was broken to-day for the new Presbyterian church. The work will be pushed rapidly to completion.

The recent proclamation of the mayor's relative to the muzzling of all roving canines, has been the means of removing a great many worthless curs from the streets.

W. H. Mitchell, of Toledo, by whose untiring efforts the Four-County fair was made a possibility, was an interested observer of the program on Friday.

Rev. Winter and wife returned Tuesday from a week's visit in Fredonia, N. Y.

G. H. Heffinger and M. J. House have returned from Atlantic City.

NEWS FROM KANSAS.

Republicans Making a Desperate Fight.

It Will Take All Their Energies to Keep the Grand Old Party From Going to Pieces.

Topeka, Ks., Sept. 1.—Mass meetings will be held in every congressional district in this state this afternoon and evening under the auspices of the republican central committee, and reports from the different points where the gatherings have been called indicate that seven large audiences will greet the respective speakers who have been selected to address them.

A. W. Smith, the republican candidate for governor, is making a strong campaign, and the popular impression in republican circles seems to be that the people's party movement is becoming weak at the knees, and that the farmers are returning to their first love, the G. O. P.

It is certainly a fact that the populists have not managed their campaign in Kansas as well as in some of the adjoining states, but whether they are as badly demoralized as the republicans claim is a question that can only be settled by the result of the November election.

AN ISLAND HOME.

A change of air, a change of scene, is the best sort of prescription to indulge in during the summer months. It beats medicine and drugs. An island equipped with all the heart can wish for comfort and pleasure, is located in Michigan, and known far and wide as Mackinac. It is a favorite resort. Reached by the Michigan Central railroad, and fully described in its Summer Tourist folder, sent to your address by dropping a line, with stamp, to Wm. J. Schnwarth, S. P. Agent, Cincinnati, Ohio.

John Griffin, of South Portland, while fishing for mackerel outside Cape Elizabeth one night recently, captured what he claims is a baby whale in his net. The young leviathan is three feet long, with a smooth, hard skin, has a back fin with a spread of five by seven inches, two throat fins, each measuring about four by five inches, and a two-pronged tail, spreading nine inches. It died before reaching the shore, and the carcass is now one of the attractions of a British dime museum.

THE NEXT MORNING I FEEL BRIGHT AND NEW AND MY COMPLEXION IS BETTER.

My doctor says it acts gently on the stomach, liver and kidneys, and is a pleasant laxative. This drink is made from herbs, and is prepared for use as easily as tea. It is called

CABLE PANTS

The "Model" Clothing House

CORNER SUMMIT AND JEFFERSON STS.

This "Whitcomb Riley" style of twisting verses all around,
To illustrate some meaning, or sentiment profound,
Now comes in very handy to describe our PANTS display;

For instance men we've this way. ( ) for bow-legged trousers shaped

And then for men whose legs have that graceful line, the curve,
But who in spite of that defect most certainly deserve
A pair of TROUSERS that will fit, our clerks polite will show

A pair of (×) shaped something like this from the hip to toe.

Then for the man who prides himself upon his stately limbs,
We've patterns new, and prices right to satisfy his whims,
And when he leaves the store, of course, his heart is filled with bliss,

Because he's got a pair of PANTS shaped nice and straight like this.

What Does This Mean To Our People?

It Rings With a Great and Grand Hope.

Something Thousands Are Seeking For.

A Fact of Marvelous Import to All.

Newburg, N. Y.—A telegraphic dispatch from Newburg, N. Y., reveals the fact that a most marvelous change has taken place in the person of one of its oldest and best known citizens. H. S. Shorter, Esq., is an old man of 75 years, and lives at 391 Broadway, Newburg, N. Y. It appears that Mr. Shorter, who was an extensive lumber dealer, began to grow languid, got tired easily, was nervous and debilitated, until at last he became so weak and exhausted that he was just able to drag himself around. He lost flesh and strength so rapidly and became so alarmingly prostrated that his friends and relatives despaired of his life.

Now came the marvellous change.

Suddenly Mr. Shorter was thansformed from his condition of extreme weakness to one of strength; his nerves grew quickly strong and steady, his muscles became vigorous, his blood was revivified and enriched, he gained 15 pounds in weight, and to-day is in sound and perfect health.

Such a remarkable transformation in a man of his age was a nine days' wonder.

Of course the cause was eagerly looked for

Your correspondent, determined to know the truth for the paper's readers, listened to the following facts from Mr. Shorter's own lips:

"I feel now like a new man!

"What do you think of taking an old man of 75 years, physically weak and broken down, and making him feel like a boy again! Giving him new life, health and strength, and adding 15 pounds of solid flesh to his weak and debilitated frame!

"And all in two months, with three bottles of Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy! Well, that is just what has taken place in me. Instead of being weak, debilitated and exhausted, just able to drag myself around, I feel now like a new man!

"I advise all to use Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy!"

Surely this wonderful remedy is a most marvellous health restorer, and, without doubt, the greatest medical discovery of the age.

If it can thus give back health and strength to an old man, weakened and exhausted by disease, how much more surely and certainly will it cure the thousands who are run down, weak, nervous and prostrated, who suffer from poor blood, weak nerves, dyspepsia, indigestion, constipation, malaria, kidney and liver complaints, etc. For debility it is a speedy restorer of strength and vigor. If you are run down in health and need a medicine to strengthen the nerves, invigorate the blood, tone up the stomach and regulate the bowels, kidneys and liver, Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy, which is purely vegetable and harmless, and is the best remedy known in the world.

Use it, for it will restore your health and strength. You can get it at any druggist's for $1.

It is the discovery and prescription of the well-known and successful physician, Dr. Greene, of 35 W. 14th st., New York, the eminent specialist in the cure of nervous and chronic diseases, who can be consulted free, personally or by letter.

GREAT TIME AT BRYAN,

Splendid Races on the New Mile Track.

The Second Day Showed Increased Attendance—Gossip Picked Up at the Fair.

Bryan, O., Sept. 1.—(Special)—The second day of the Bryan races opened with a larger attendance and the track in good condition. The cool breeze did not seem to keep the people at home and all who came out enjoyed the excellent program.

The people of Bryan and vicinity are justly proud of their driving park, which is situated only four blocks from the center of the town and covers 100 acres. The track which is the fastest in this part of the state, is a regulation mile, built on the same lines as the famous mile track at Richmond, Ind. The grand stand seats 2,000 persons and is situated in such a manner that from every seat the entire race can be seen.

The judges' stand, which is usually on the opposite side of the track from the grand stand, is located directly in front of the reserved chairs, thus enabling all to see the finish as it is seen by the judges. The stables are built on the latest plans and can accommodate 120 head of horses. The stables are connected with the judges' stand by electric bells, in fact, every little detail has been looked after.

Taking into consideration the short time since the ground was broken (July 6), the association is entitled to much credit for the progress made.

George Ketcham rides a pneumatic sulky. His 3-year-old Nyanza is a great favorite.

The pneumatic sulkies are being used in every race by two-thirds of the drivers and so far have taken first money.

The fastest thing on the track yesterday was the wind, notwithstanding that 2:15 1-4 was made by Cleveland S., who won the race in three straight heats in the free-for-all.

Summary of the races:

First race—2:24 trotting; purse $800. Ponce de Leon won in three straight heats. Time—2:20, 2:23, 2:18 1-4.

Second race—2:35 pacing; $500. Leslie C. won in three straight heats. Time—2:30 1-4, 2:34 1-4, 2:33.

Third race—2:40 trotting; $500. Bessie Wilkes Wood won the first heat, Bon Ami second, third and fifth. Nyanzi, from the Ketcham farm, won the fourth heat. Time—2:27, 2:27 1-2, 2:31, 2:26 1-2, 2:24 1-4.

Improved Facilities.

Chief Wall was at the exposition grounds yesterday superintending the improvements being made in the fire department. The chemical engine-house is being enlarged, and the company will be very well equipped should their services be required.

Secretary Crane is at the grounds today and will be until the close of the great exhibit. There are improvements being made on the grand stand and other repairs going on, the "privileged" people are arriving with their exhibits, and the entries are still coming thick and fast. Live stock entries close to-day.

The Toledo exposition has never before been so well advertised, it has never offered so great attraction, and all that is needed to make it a perfect success is fine weather.

Three Separate Parades.

Separate parades will be the fad on Labor day, both from choice and necessity.

The big parade will take place at 10 o'clock, that seeming the best hour to give those participating, the afternoon for rest and recreation.

About the same hour the Building Trades' council will have a parade, and in the afternoon, at 1 o'clock, the Clerks' Mutual Protective union and Barbers' union, No. 5, will meet at Carpenter's hall for the purpose of marching. The line of march has not yet been planned, but probably will be attended to at the meeting at Carpenter's hall this evening.

Every member of each of these unions is expected to be present and take part in the parade.

Brokenhearted Jack.

Mr. N. H. Swayne started on a fishing trip to northern Michigan yesterday afternoon and Jack is just brokenhearted. Everyone knows Jack. He is the little skyterrier seen always and ever at Mr. Swayne's heels. He is the wisest dog in the town and seems to know when his master is going away. "He always knows when I am going awsy," Mr. Swayne said yesterday. "He seems to catch enough of the conversation at home to understand this. When I go I have never to tell him to remain. If I'm only going down town all earth couldn't detain him. When I leave the house this afternoon he will just slink away under a table and never even bid me good-bye. I never knew a wiser dog."

There are few things that Mr. Swayne thinks more of than Jack.

CLEANING UP THE CITY.

Getting Ready to Figth a Cholera Visitation.

Health Officer Fisher is taking active steps to purify the city.

This morning he condemned the old frame building adjoining Doyle, Scott & Lewis' offices, on Superior street near Madison, as unfit for human habitation, and on account of the over-crowded and filthy condition.

The doctor also swore out a warrant for the arrest of A. K. Detwiler, as agent of this property, charging him with maintaining a nuisance. Mr. Detwiler informed a Bee this afternoon that the property is owned by Parks Foster and that the bar has been in charge of their firm for about ten days. He says they have been repairing the house and if it is in an unsanitary condition the owner is ready to clean it up.

Dr. Fisher served notice upon the tenants to quit the place within the next 24 hours.

England taken alone gave a majority of 71 members against Mr. Gladstone—268 unionists against 197 home rulers. Great Britain alone gave a majority of 15 against home rule—291 against 276. Wales was almost solid for Mr. Gladstone, 2 unionists out of 30 being returned. Calculation of the popular majorities is interesting. In England alone the unionists' popular majority was 122,000; in Great Britain it was 34,000. In the United Kingdom, with the Irish vote included, the net home-rule majority was 203,000.

Swedish iron, which is soft, yet strong and ductile, is almost free from phosphorous and sulphur. It is held to be practically inexhaustible, though taken out at the rate of a million tons a year. It is found all through the country, though mined chiefly in central Sweden, in the Dannemora district. Several of the heights as truly deserve to be called iron mountains as those in Missouri, and there is one in Gellivare, in Swedish Lapland, beyond the Arctic circle, where the ore occurs in four gigantic starta, that would supply nearly all the iron the country would require in a century.

There are two farmers in Milltown, Pa., who have gone into the business of extracting the poison from bees. They catch the bees, and either immerse them for eight days in a bottle of alcohol, having previously enraged them so as to cause the poison to exude from the poison sacs, or else they kill them and squeeze the virus into a glass tube. The virus has a local repute as a cure for dropsy, chills and fever, and all kinds of insect stings.

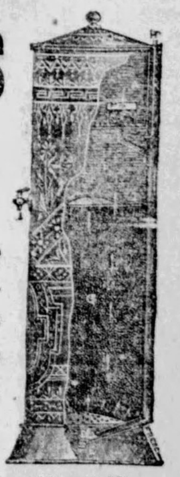
The Stevens Filter Co.'s CHOLERA PREVENTIVES!



It is a fact well known to physicians who are familiar with the history of cholera epidemics of 1835 and 1854, that the disease was peculiarly fatal in the lime stone districts of the country, where the inhabitants drank water from wells. It was proven by a leading physician in a Southern city that not a single family who used filtered cistern or river water suffered from the disease. Health Officer Fisher when he advised the citizens of Toledo to quit using well water struck the keynote of cholera sanitation.

We are prepared to furnish our Filters, that have a national reputaton for worth, at low prices and upon easy terms of payment. Call at our works, 322 and 324 Water Street, Toledo, or upon dealers named below.

The announcement of cholera at quarantine, and the quick departure of the pouting Platt, cut short the conference of the manipulating magnates at Ophir farm, yesterday.

Whatever the outcome of the presidential election, the country may learn if a few New York politicians are really the arbiters of political fate in this country.

The New York Tribune hopes republican voters will not remain away from the polls in November, because it is difficult for them to learn the new ballot system, and because they dread the mortification from possible mistakes. The dear old grandmother forgets that all the intelligence and education in the country, is claimed for its party. In nearly every other state the secret ballot system has decreased republican votes and the Tribune's apprehension is well timed.

An eastern organ tells "the workingmen in manufacturing towns" that, "upon Harrison's election depends their prosperity." Poor country, erstwhile so strong and powerful, now in its sure decadence, if the prosperity of any class of its citizens depends upon the official success of one man. We are nearer the brink of absolutism than any one supposed.

If the prosperity of the workers in "New York, Newark and Paterson" depends upon Harrison, the millions of laborers not included in the ring of specialties would better be looking out for man and measures upon which their prosperity may depend. When the anxious organs get to preaching in earnest to the favored ones in their locality, they forget that the fellows left out in the cold to shirk for themselves may be taking notes.

A manufacturer of silk and woolen goods in New York, writes, in testimony for a New York organ:

The workingmen are certainly vitally interested in protection, as their bread and butter lies in that direction. The wages of the employes in the mills in Germany competing in the same lines of manufacture with us receive less than one-half the wages paid American workmen.

And the protective law of Germany was fashioned after our own, and Bismarck was embraced by the republican party for thus complimenting their political jugglery. It would appear, then, that the difference in wages depends not at all upon protective taxation, but, upon form of government, efficiency of workingmen, inheritance, nationality and various other factors of prosperity with which prohibitive duties and retaliation have nothing to do.

INEXCUSABLE IGNORANCE.

Benjamin Harrison said, at Malone:

I see no reason why the United States should not from this day forward step into a position of power and influence among the great commercial nations of the world such as she has never enjoyed.

Does Benjamin see any reason why "she," the United States, does not already hold "a position of power and influence among the great commercial nations of the world?" Does Benjamin consider a high prohibitive duty is a step toward establishing commercial intercourse with the nations of the world? Does Benjamin know why our flag that once proudly floated over the waters with the best of them has disappeared from the seas? Doe Benjamin read history or anything but his own party organs, to try and find out about these things?

SHE.

The language needs remodeling to correspond with changed conditions in woman's life. Chairwoman isn't good. Perhaps it will be once we become accustomed to it. Doctress and poetess have been relegated to the region of the obsolete. We still have laundress and authoress with us, on occasion. "She" gets called "the female drummer," the "female cycler." But the worst of it all is in the conferring of school degrees. The girl bachelor as slang for a maiden able to take care of herself, is become familiar, but the girl bachelor of music or bachelor of arts doesn't go as well. An account of a recent graduation of three young women of the Toronto University is headed "Three Lady Bachelors." "She" is making a deal of trouble, but manifestly a revision of speech is necessary before the present ungraceful expedients become fixed.

THE SCRIMMAGE OF THE COLONELS.

The people of the Ninth congressional district may learn much about the row among the republican politicians of Toledo by following the preliminary set-to between the forces of the administration and the antis.

Col. Bonner, Col. Waldorf, Col. Brown and Col. Austin are the field officers of the rule-or-ruin administration militia.

Col. Griffin and Col. Squire boss the organized squad of the Foraker Guards.

The present is a congressional row.

Col. Griffin is the idol of the biggest crowd and makes an open fight for first place.

The Harrison-Sherman-McKinley Colonels are all against Col. Griffin. They are for anybody to beat Col. Griffin, and just now think Dr. Lincoln, of Wood, is the most available candidate.

Col. Bonner, specially representing Gov. McKinley in this fight against Col. Griffin, saw fit to order a convention of his own nation, warranted to eternally squelch Col. Griffin.

Thereupon Col. Squire came to the rescue of Col. Griffin and threatened to knock Col. Bonner's head off.

The belligerent Colonels in undress uniform played for points with revised statutes and the referee decided it a draw.

Col. Squire orders a row, a riot and a rebellion, and wants a new convention.

Col. Griffin seconds the motion and contributes $282 of money well earned in state service to pay for a convention of his own fixing.

Col. Bonner must fish or cut bait, do it or get off quick, and Col. Squire doesn't care a continental which he does.

The row of the Colonels thus gloriously begun will continue beyond the convention and be hilariously lively on election day.

And a democrat may go to congress from the Ninth district.

THE DISGRACE OF THE TOWN.

What the Chicago Herald says for Chicago, every other considerable city in the country can say for itself and its management: It is a disgrace to the whole people of cities that the universal cry goes up: "clean the streets and alleys, take care of the garbage; the cholera is coming." Officers are appointed to see that this is done, not only when an epidemic threatens, but every year, every day and all the time, and money is appropriated for the purpose. If the men are inefficient and the money insufficient, discharge the men and enlarge the sum. If gross neglect means cholera, any neglect, in measure, means unnecessary sickness and mortality. The conscience of the people seems to have become so callous that a broken pledge of duty, or neglect, or peculation, is sort of smiled upon as a part of "politics," and politics has fairly become another name for trickery.

The Herald, independent in its conclusions and fearless in its utterances, tells the city fathers that the women's municipal league, in April last, went over the city and reported upon its condition, and offered the suggestions and would have enforced the demands if it had the power—for the action which they ignored and postponed until cholera was shouted in their ears. Ordinary typhoid was not enough to rouse them. And the league of women is still at work, investigating and placing results before the citizens through the medium of the newspapers, that shame the city officers, the more that they must face uncontradicted facts, and thus confess their own criminal dereliction. Is there any hope for municipal reform? Toledo is vitally interested in this question.

WILL THE TAX-MADE INDUSTRY PAY?

American tin consists of imported plates, dipped in imported ore by imported workmen. The ore is brought in free, the labor is free of duty and the tax on manufactured goods virtually shuts out competition and leaves the home manufacturer to fix prices. There is no great wonder that republican manipulators of this arrangement are investing in "plants." If they can keep the law intact there are millions in it for them. The primal idea, that of developing our tin mines, is quite lost sight of, and with reason. The report of the United States geological survey on mineral resources, as carefully guarded as is possible, is yet obliged to declare that the Temescal mine (which was boomed for the purpose of unloading stock on English investors who were greedy for a share of the tribute decreed by government) produced, last year, only sixty tons of pig tin. No tin has been produced at the Temescal in 1892, and it is doubtful if the mine is worked again. The English owners called their man home, months ago. The South Dakota mine is not productive of results as yet, stock has depreciated and the prop is knocked out. No metallic tin has been taken from the Cash mine in Virginia and the prospect is not flattering.

This is official report of the geologists on all the tin mines that have been discovered in the country. Now the one question as to tin is: Will it pay the 60,000,000 of consumers to submit to enhanced price on wares to assist a few men to run dipping plants, with foreign ore for material and imported workmen to perform the labor? Is it good business sense to do this? Mr. McKinley, glorifying his handiwork, says, "we let in free the articles that cannot be produced in this country." Tin ore is free; if we cannot produce tin ore in appreciable quantities, why should the people be taxed to bring ore and Welshmen across the water to have the mere acts of melting, dipping and finishing performed here? The already over-fed ironmongers, who would furnish rolled plate under special tax, are the chief beneficiaries. The men who own plants get a share by virtue of legislation which puts the matter of management entirely in their own hands.

The question for consumers to answer, to themselves, to the country, and at the polls next November, is, will it pay them? Does such course make for the general prosperity? Already the canning industries have spoken. They have felt the pressure and uttered protest. Who pays this $15,000,000 yearly tribute? Who gets the benefit of it? and do returns warrant the existence of such tax? It is no hurrah cry of unpatriotism that "tin cannot be made in America." But, shall we insist upon bolstering its manufacture at continual loss to those who foot the bills, and gain only for a special few?

An organ boasts that ten thousand workmen from closed mills in Wales are on their way to the United States. In the hold of their own, or another ship, comes tin ore from the mines of Wales, and in the finer and faster vessels come their English employers, to get the benefit of tribute to be paid by people of this country. A little serious thought on the subject would result in more apprehension and less exultation.

BRIDGES.

The Broadway Bridge Plan Meets Some Opposition.

The council committee on bridges met last evening and discussed at length the proposed new bridge over the Lake Shore tracks at the Broadway crossing and the proposed new bridge over Swan creek near the present Perry street structure.

The plan that the Lake Shore company has made for the Broadway bridge provides for an iron bridge with two 20-foot driveways with seven-foot walks on the outside. It was also proposed to make the new bridge two feet higher than the old one. This would necessitate a change of grade in Broadway for some distance on each side, and for this reason the property owners in the vicinity have opposed the plan.

Mrs. Rosa L. Segur, Mr. Gilbert Canneff and Mr. E. A. Eversman, owners of property adjoining the bridge, appeared before the committee last evening and explained that their property would be greatly damaged by any raise in the grade of Broadway.

Mr. Samuel Rockwell, chief engineer of the Lake Shore, was also present and said that the company wanted the bridge at least 21 feet above the tracks for the proper protection of their employes, and he asked the committee to approve the plan submitted by him.

After discussing the matter the committee did not decide the question of grade, but approved a plan for the bridge with two 24-foot roadways and eight-foot walks on the outside. They will meet with the street committee to-night and consider the grade.

The committee then decided upon a location for a new bridge over Swan creek, to cross from the foot of Washington street.

THE VETERANS

Of the Sixty-Seventh Regiment O. V. I.

Holding Their Reunion at Swanton To-Day—A Large Attendance—History of the Regiment.

The Sixty-seventh regiment, Ohio Volunteer Infantry, is reuning at Swanton to-day.

A special train took down 100 veterans from Toledo, and about 500 persons are in attendance.

General Alvin V. Voris, of Akron, is present, Colonel John Faskin, Captain D. C. Dewey, Major S. F. Forbes, Lieut. E. Whitmore, C. D. Lindsay, and others, with whose names and deeds of valor Toledo people are familiar.

There will be speeches delivered by General Voris, and other prominent soldiers, martial music, a business meeting, at which officers of the association will be elected, and a good dinner, furnished by the hospitable people of Swanton.

The afternoon will be devoted to the recalling of old times and scenes, and social enjoyment.

These reunions are seasons of great pleasure to the old soldiers. May the brave veterans of the Sixty-seventh Ohio live to enjoy many happy returns of the day.

History of the Regiment.

The Sixty-seventh regiment, O. V. I., was organized from October, 1861, to January, 1862, to serve three years. The members came from the state at large and were mustered in at Camp Chase, O. On the expiration of its term of service the original members, except veterans, were mustred out, and the organization, composed of veterans and recruits retained in service. The grand regiment, Ohio infantry was consolidated with it September 1, 1865. It was mustered out December 7, 1865, in accordance with orders from the war department.

The regiment bore an honorable part in a long list of hardly fought battles, some of them being the siege and fall of Petersburg, Appamattox, Bermuda Hundred, Fort Wagner, Malvera Hill, Blackwater, Darbytown Road, and many others, where it saw hot fighting.

FOURTEENTH OHIO.

Steedman's Gallant Old Regiment Reunes.

Brief Sketch of One of the Braves Regiments of the War—The Old Boys Meet at Waterville.

Steedman's gallant old regiment, the Fourteenth Ohio, holds its annual reunion at Waterville to-day.

Of all the Ohio regiments none is nearer the hearts of the people of Toledo than the Fourteenth. None other has a braver or brighter record. It carved its name on the history of 13 battlefields and at one of them—Chickamauga—the regimentcovered itself with undying fame and glory.

The Fourteenth was organized in this city from August 14 to September 5, 1861, to serve three years. On the expiration of its term of service the original members, except veterans, were mustered out and the organization composed of veterans and recruits retained in service, when it was mustered out in accordance with the orders of the war department.

There were no feather bed soldiers in that Toledo regiment. The following list of notable battles in which the Toledoans participated as a guarantee of that:

Wild Cat. Ringgold.
Mill Springs. Dalton.
Shiloh. Resaca.
Corinth. Kenesaw Mountain.
Hoover's Gap. Utoy Creek.
Chickamauga. Jonesboro.
Mission Ridge. Goldsboro.

James B. Steedman and G. P. Este, of this city, were its first colonels, with the late Paul Edwards as lieutenant-colonel. H. D. Kingsbury, Albert Moore, J. W. Wilson were among those of heigher rank. W. C. Daniels and G. E. Sloat were its surgeons, having as assistants C. D. Ames, C. M. Elton and T. J. Cronise. Rev. E. B. Raffensperger was chaplain.

Among other well-known names on the muster roll were A. J. Morse, Ezra B. Kirk, C. B. Mitchell, H. M. Parmelee, I. J. Bogart, J. W. Hannon, A. H. Alcorn, W. Bloomfield, William Bond, C. H. Walbridge, E. S. Dodd, John Cotter, Henry G. Neubert, M. M. Goulden, C. E. Wilcox, John O'Conner—the present harbormaster—M. J. Owens, and numerous others.

The present officers are: President, Louis B. Hanford, of Waterville, who was first sergeant of Co. A, and secretary Leroy C. Clark, now deputy revenue collector.

Every Toledoan will join in wishing the fast depleting remnant of the gallant Fourteenth a pleasant time to-day and many happy returns of the anniversary.

CATH BRADY DEAD.

The Genial Ex-Treasurer of the People's Passes Away.

Brief Sketch of the Deceased—Soldier, Journalist and Scholar—The Funeral.

Everyone who knew C. J. Brady, the genial treasurer of the People's theater for several years, and familiarly known as "Cath," will learn with sincere regret of his death, which occurred this morning at his residence, 822 Superior street.

Mr. Brady, who was a brother of S. W. Brady, proprietor of the People's theater and manager of Wheeler's, was 46 years of age and for the last four years has been connected with his brother, S. W., in the management of the local theaters.

During the war he fought in Company F, Twenty-first Indiana Volunteer artillery. He was preparing, by the way, to attend the annual reunion of his old regiment at his old home when death called him.

Before entering the army he was proprietor and editor of the Tipton County (Ind.) Times, and at the close of the war became connected with the Muncie (Ind.) Times.

The deceased was a nephew of the late Gen. Thomas J. Brady, who was first assistant postmaster under President Grant and for a time acted as secretary to Gen. Brady.

He was a widower and leaves two children, a son and daughter, Clara and Fletcher P. Brady. He was a genial gentleman, an excellent conversationalist and widely read.

The funeral will take place at his old home at Muncie, Ind., next Saturday, and will be held under the auspices of Muncie lodge, No. 433, F. & A. M., of which he was a highly respected member.

There will be a special meeting of the Henrietta Monroe W. C. T. U. at the home of Mrs. N. M. Haviland, corner of Forrer street and Lincoln avenue, tomorrow (Friday) afternoon at 3:30. Officers for the ensuing term will be nominated and delegates to the state convention elected.

LATEST FROM MARS.

Prof. Pickering Makes Important Discoveries.

New York, Sept. 1.—Prof. Pickering, of Harvard, who has been making observations of Mars at Arequipa, Peru, cables the Herald as follows: "Mars has two mountain ranges near the south pole. Melted snow has collected between them before flowing northward. On the equatorial mountain range, to the north of the gray regions, snow fell on two summits on August 5th and melted on Aug. 7th. I have seen 11 lakes near Solis Lacus, varying in area from 80 to 100 miles to 40 by 40 miles. Branching dark lines connect them with two large dark areas like seas, but not blue.

There has been much trouble since the snow melted in the areas clouds. These clouds are not white but yellowish, and partly transparent. They now seem to be breaking up, but they hang densely on the south side of the mountain range.

The northern green spot has been photographed. Many of Schiaparellis' canals have been seen single.

FELL FROM A TRAIN.

A Lady's Misfortune at Upper Sandusky.

She Refuses to Give Her Name or Residence—A Strange Case.

Upper Sandusky, O., Sept. 1.—As the Red Line, the fast train on the Pennsylvania, crossed the tracks of the Columbus, Hocking Valley & Toledo railway in this city, a finely-dressed young lady of about 28 years was seen standing on the rear vestibule of the last coach.

The train had proceeded but a short distance when the lady was seen to fall from the train. She was not missed evidently, on the train, as it did not stop.

The baggage master of the Hocking Valley saw the lady fall and hastened to her. He found her badly cut and bruised about the face and barely able to walk. She was assisted to the railway hotel and soon given medical attention.

Her injuries were not found to be dangerous, but she began acting strangely queer, as though deranged, and could not be induced to talk. Neither can her residence be obtained, nor her name. Even how the accident happened is yet to be determined.

She bears a press railway ticket, good for Miss C. S. Carpenter. It is believed she was taken ill while on the train and stepped to the vestibule to get air, and while standing there fainted.

The father of the young lady arrived here and took his daughter to her home in Rockford, Ill.

Her identity was developed through the name on the ticket, and she proved to be the lady for whom it was made out, Miss C. S. Carpenter.

She is a principal in the high school at Rockford, and is a prominent society lady. Her deranged condition is thought by her father to have existed before the accident, and in fact to have caused it.

She had done considerable work and hard study, and the strain on her mind proved greater than she could bear.

THE NEW OPERA

That is to be Presented at Wheeler's.

Ship Ahoy, the Cast and Argument—Plenty of Opportunities for Good Situations and Music.

Next week will be one of opera at Wheeler's when the new nautical opera Ship Ahoy will be presented. The opera is by H. Grattan Donnelly and Fred Miller, and will be presented with the following cast:

Christopher Columbus Cook—Commander of the U. S. S. Cuckoo—Mr. E. H. Van Veghten.

Col. Mapleson Mulberry—Manager of the Oriole Opera company—Mr. Edward Gavan.

Lieutenant Lillypop—Executive officer of the Cuckoo—Mr. Frederick W. Eckhart.

Ensign Toddles—A sweet young thing from Annapolis—Mr. Charles Leonard.

Barnacle Duff—Seaman of the U. S. S. Cuckoo—Mr. Walter A. Goddard.

Chrissy—Property boy of the Oriole company—Mr. George F. Wright.

Executive officer of the U. S. S. Chicago—Mr. James R. Horner.

Benedict—Servant at Hotel Hygea—Mr. Harry Collins.

Captain of cadets—Miss Frankie Broash.

M'lle. Auburin Ernain—Prima donno soprano of the Oriole Opera company—Miss Marie Laurens.

M'lle Georgie Carolina—From the Grand opera house, Paris, (Ky.)—Miss Florence Dunbar.

M'lle Lallu Lalla—An ambitious debutante—Miss Daisy Mayer.

Brunetta—Miss Tessie Morris.

The story of the opera concerns a lyric organization known as the Oriole Opera company, which is shipwrecked while en route to the West Indies. The first act takes place on the Isle of Palms, the second on board the United States man-of-war "Cuckoo," and the third and last at Fortress Monroe, where a military reception is in progress.

The curtain rises and reveals the company on a deserted island in the tropics.

With the exception of the manager of the company, Col. Mapleson Mulberry, and the property boy, all the male members of the organization are supposed to have been drowned at sea.

Col. Mapleson's pomposity and ill-treatment of the ladies of the chorus causes them to organize a woman republic and select Lullu Lalla, the soubrette of the company, as their president. Col. Mapleson, Erauni and Carolina, the principal singers of the organization, are ushered into the presence of Lullu Lalla to bow to her power, when suddenly the Cuckoo, one of the United States White Squadron fleet, is sighted, the crew having picked up one of the bottles containing the message of the company's distress. Commodore Cook sends a delegation on shore to offer them the hospitality of the Cuckoo and a passage back to America.

While on board the Cuckoo, Commodore Cook and Col. Mapleson partake of numerous bottles of champagne which results in these highly cultured gentlemen becoming intoxicated, and by a strange coincidence they enter each other's staterooms. The colonel dons the commodore's uniform and takes charge of the ship, where all are compelled to obey him on the grounds that the uniform must be respected regardless of the individual wearing it. On arrival at Fortress Monroe, the commodore manages to get himself into military habiliments, and meets the usurper of his position face to face; explanations follow, and all is forgiven. The commodore is united to Lullu Lalla, and the entire party depart to Washington to lay their claim to the Island of Palms before the government.

Sadie Hasson.

A Kentucky Girl, in which Sadie Hasson is to appear the coming week at the People's theater, is a sensational comedy drama written by Fred S. Gibbs especially for the purpose of presenting Miss Hasson in a congenial role, that of a character soubrette, a line of business in which she has few rivals. For the past few seasons she has been seen in Nobody's Claim and has won for herself a warm place in the hearts of people who enjoy theatrical performances of a sensational order. A Kentucky Girl gives Miss Hasson ample opportunity to display her well-known ability, and her company is said to be a competent one. Considerable attention and expense has been given to the settings of the play, and a number of new sensational effects are promised.

SQUIRE ON TOP.

The County Central Committee to Meet Again

And Will Undoubtedly Reconsider the Primary Plan.

The Republican City Committee Holds An Interesting Seance Whereat the Scheme is Denounced.

Bosses Squire and Griffin are on top again.

The republican central committee will meet at 11 o'clock to-morrow to reconsider the postoffice primary plan.

Chairman Bonner is in Philadelphia, and in his absence Secretary Horace Merrill has been forced into calling a special meeting.

The Squire-Griffin combination proposes stuffing the Baber law, pure and simple, down the throats of the postoffice crowd.

It will be a bitter dose, but Mr. Harrison's representatives will be forced to swallow—Griffin, Squire and all.

The republican central committee met at the Republican club rooms last evening, and it was a lively seance from start to finish.

Jim Southard presided and Steve Bolles, who is rampantly opposed to postoffice bossism, was secretary.

Mr. Kerr, a member of the county central committee from Monclova, started the ball rolling by demanding a diagram of the proposed plan of primaries.

Mr. Southard undertook to explain away the scheme but was laughed at by the majority, which, by the way, is Griffin first and last.

By a vote of 7 to 2 the postoffice scheme was denounced and the Baker law as it is used by the democrats endorsed.

Jim Southard, of the Fifth, and Bob Parks, of the First, were the two postoffice representatives and the only two on the committee of nine, so they were not in it to any great extent.

A singular and significant statement was made at the meeting by a member of the county committee. He said that the resolution adopted at the meeting of the county central committee was not incorporated by Chairman Bonner in his call.

Under the call all the delegates from a ward can be selected from one precinct, whereas the committee voted unanimously in favor of distributing the delegates from each ward equally among the different precincts.

This, it was said, was only another part of the Bonner scheme to get absolute control of the convention.

Mr. Southard attempted to explain this plank of the Bonner plan but without any great success.

W. I. Squire will run things in the Fourth to suit himself and will not be bound by the dictates of the schemers.

Frank H. Tanner, the member of the committee from the First, will do likewise in that ward, and altogether it looks that unless the plan is radically changed there will be a revolt all along the line.

At the meeting to-morrow a majority of the county central committee will vote in favor of a reconsideration and the Baker law will undoubtedly be adopted.

This will be a signal victory for Griffin, who offers to pay all the expenses of the primaries if held under this system.

SAFE BLOWERS.

Syracuse, N. Y., Sept. 1.—Dexter & Dana's store at Munnville, Madison county, was broken into last night and the safe broken open. There was stolen $700 in cash and $2,300 in checks and accounts. Four suspicious looking persons have been arrested at Oneida on suspicion of committing the crime.

LOVE AND A PISTOL.

Lima, O., Sept. 1.—Charles Weiber of Cincinnati, who for the past six months has been cook at the Lima hotel, attempted to shoot Miss Stroup, a dining room girl, and end his own life. Weiber was in love with Miss Stroup and they were engaged to be married shortly, when she broke the engagement. She was ridiculing him over his love, when he drew a revolver and started after her and made an effort to kill her, but was disarmed. Weiber was drunk.

BONEBRAKE APPOINTED.

Columbus, O., Sept. 1.—State School Commissioner Carson appointed Prof. L. D. Bonebrake of Mount Vernon to membership in the state board of examiners.

Prof. Bonebrake fills the place made vacant by the expiration of the term of Superintendent W. J. White, of Dayton. The professor is a progressive school man and a graduate of Otterbein university at Westerville, O. His appointment is a just recognition of his ability as an educator.

There were 40 prisoners in the jail and they were all hurried out and placed under guard. In the confusion two notorious horse thieves escaped and have not been captured. The jail was totally destroyed. A new jail will be built at once.

A WARM CAMPAIGN.

Gen. Stevenson Improves Every Minute.

He Takes the Hoosier State by Storm and Talks to Large Crowds.

Vincennes, Ind., Sept. 1.—The democrats of Indiana had their first opportunity of meeting Candidate Adlai Stevenson today, the occasion being a reception at the Grand Hotel this forenoon. Several hundred persons filed through the parlors of the hotel and shook the hand of the distinguished Illinoisan, and the reception continued until dinner time.

In the afternoon there was an out-door mass meeting, which was addressed by Mr. Stevenson, Senator Voorhees, Claude Matthews, democratic candidate for governor, John E. Lamb, and several other Indiana politicians.

Mr. Stevenson spoke at considerable length, discussing the tariff and force bill, with incidental references to the Indiana state campaign.

To-night there will be a meeting at which Gov. Gray and others will speak.

A COOKING TOURNAMENT

Italian Ladies of Toledo the Contestants.

The Settlement on St. Clair Street the Scene.

Peculiar Operations As Witnessed by a Bee—The Tomato An Adjunct to Macaroni.

For a week past there have been peculiar cooking operations in the vicinity of the Italian quarters on St. Clair street near Adams. The Italians have secured the Friendly Inn and about a dozen small dwellings in the rear running from St. Clair to Superior streets.

Scattered in the rear yards have been seen for the past week very active operations among the women. In every yard and in the vicinity of every dwelling may be seen three, four and sometimes as high as six large iron pots full of some red semi-liquid surface and all through these yards, even in the alley and on the piles of iron pipe in the rear of the city gas office, are scores of boards—about four feet square and an inch thick—on which women are at work kneading some pinky stuff which is the consistency of semi-liquid mortar.

Yesterday a Bee reporter visited the colony and was surprised not only at the number of Italians who live there, but at their curious operations over the boards referred to.

Not a single soul could be found who could speak English, and the reporter had to guess at the meaning of the cooking tournament.

Hundreds of bushels of tomatoes were boiling to a stew in the various iron pots which rest on ingeniously constructed fire-brick ovens. When the tomatoes are boiled to a certain consistency the contents are strained—the liquid part being thrown away and what would be naturally supposed to be the refuse kept.

The skins and seeds are carefully picked from the remaining parts and it is the result of this operation that is seen on the pine boards scattered promiscuously throughout the settlement.

When the contents of a pot is thus selected it is placed on one of the boards of several boards in a thin layer—not over half an inch—and while it cools one of the women stirs and kneads it thoroughly with a spoon. As it cooks it thickens.

"What do you use this stuff for?" the reporter asked one of the women, who was operating the machine. She looked at the inquisitor in a dazed kind of way for a moment, and ejaculated "Macaroni."

It is understood that the nameless stuff is reduced to powder and used in cooking and eating macaroni.

The dainty dish that none but an Italian knows how to cook, is said to be vastly improved by the addition of this preparation of tomatoes.

When tea first reached Ireland, it is said, the women prepared it by boiling and then throwing away the liquid product while retaining and eating the leaves.

To a man up a tree it looks as if our Italian citizens were pursuing a similar course in regard to their preparation of the tomato, but those who pretend to know say that "red stuff" described above is excellent.

One thing is certain, those who eat it as prepared in Toledo will eat more than their proportionate share of the proverbial peck of dirt.

The pots and boards lie in the open air and the clouds of dust and the horrible smells from those back yards does not tend to give one a relish for the dish.

A. Pagmandy, a Hungarian, will send for exhibition at the world's fair, a collection of exceedingly novel paintings, which will, doubtless, attract much attention. GRANDFATHER'S GHOST.

The sharp needles of the December snow-storm were rattling against the casements of old Mrs. Maple's farmhouse; the last dead leaves of the old sycamore tree drifted down upon the doorstone.

It was an old, old house, and Mrs. Maple was an old, old woman. But you will sometimes find tufts of snowy blossome bursting from age-lichened apple trees, and sprays of greenery on the boughs of century-old oak trees; and so it happened that Minny Maple, her great-granddaughter, was the bud and blossom of her worn-out life.

Old Mrs. Maple owned house and land, and had money out at interest; but she was a shrewd old lady, and liked to keep her affairs in her own hands. And pretty Minny, albeit an heiress in prospective, taught the district school, and took care of the farm dairy out of hours.

And upon this dreary December night Mrs. Maple's swift knitting-needles gleamed like steely lightning in the firelight; and Minny sat on a low chair beside her, mending table cloths, while ever and anon a big drop would plash down upon the darned spots like a glistening globule of dew.

"But, grandmother, why?" burst out Minny at last, with blue eyes lifted up like forget-me-nots drenched in rain, to the old lady's parchment-like face.

"Because I say so," said old Mrs. Maple.

"But you say yourself, grandmother, that he's a good young man," pleaded Minny.

Old Mrs. Maple nodded.

"Without a bad habit in the world?"

And again old Mrs. Maple nodded like a Chinese mandarin in a collection of curiosities.

"And forehanded with his farm?"

For the third time Mrs. Maple nodded.

"Then, grandmother, why won't you consent to our marriage?" urged the girl.

"Child," said Mrs. Maple, turning her spectacle glasses full upon Minny's sweet, flower-like face, "I've told you why half a hundred times! It's because your great-grandfather Maple and his great-grandfather were mortal enemies. Because your grandfather's last words upon his death-bed were: "I leave my soul to heaven, my money to my dear wife, and my everlasting enmity to Job Crofton!"

"But, grandmother," said Minny, with a shudder, "that was very wicked! And surely, surely, the shadow of a tombstone should be a reconciliation?"

Old Mrs. Maple shook her white head.

"Your grandfather was a very vindictive man, Minny," said she; "I never disobeyed him living, and I never will disobey him dead!"

"But, grandmother," coaxed Minny, with her fresh cheek against the old lady's hand, "he wouldn't know it. How could he?"

"Child, child, your Grandfather Maple knew everything," said the old lady, with a sudden superstitious glance over her left shoulder, as something seemed to rustle at the casement. "And I do believe his ghost would haunt me if I didn't give good heed to his last words. No, no; Gilbert Crofton can never be your husband, and you may as well give up the idea first as last."

And Minny Maple cried herself to sleep that night.

"For I can never, never marry him without Grandmother Maple's consent," she sobbed. "I'll stay single for his sake until the day of my death; but I never can disobey the kind old soul who has taken a mother's place to me and brought me up from a baby."

But next night there was an apple bee at Deacon Dangerfield's, and Minny Maple was there. Gilbert Crofton did not make his appearance until late.

"Gilbert," said the little fiance, who sat reproachfully amid a crimson avalanche of apple, "what makes you so late?"

"I've been busy," said Gilbert. "But never mind so long as I'm in time for the Virginia reel."

And they walked home together through the snow, talking happily of what might be if only Grandmother Maple's adamantine heart could be softened.

But, late though it was, with the old clock on the stroke of one, there was a light shining redly from the keeping-room windows, and through the uncurtained casement they could see Grandmother Maple marching up and down the room like a sentinel on duty, her high-heeled boots tapping on the floor, her fingers instinctively wandering around and around the inside of her empty snuff-box.

Minnie hurried into the room.

"Why, grandmother," cried she, "whatever is the matter? Here are the logs all burned down to white ashes and the candle-wick guttering, and you in such a flutter as never was. What has happened, grandmother?"

Mrs. Maple turned her keen blue eyes upon her granddaughter with an expression like that of a sleepwalker.

"Minny, come in," said she, "and shut that door. Is that you, Gilbert Crofton, the great-grandson of Job? Come you in also, Children," with her old hands shaking as if palsy-stricken, "I've seen a ghost!"

"Impossible!" cried Gilbert Crofton.

"Dear grandmother, you must have been dreaming," soothed Minny, creeping up to her side and drawing her down into the old arm chair beside hearth.

"Dreaming!" shrieked the old woman. "I was as wide awake as I am this moment. I had been over to see Mrs. Muir's sick child, and it was close on 10 o'clock when I got back. And the minute I crossed the threshold I had that queer feeling of some one being in the room creep all over me.

"And there, sure enough, in the chair opposite, where he used to sit 30 good years ago, was your great-grandfather Maple, with his old queue wig and his suit of butternut brown, and the very green spectacles he used to wear for his weak eyes. And he took his pipe out of his mouth and looked at me just as your grandfather Maple has looked at me a thousand, thousand times. And says I:

"'Reuben, is that you?'

"'Yes, Lois, it is.'

"Oh, Reuben, what brings you back to this world?'

"'To wipe out the stains of a wicked world.'

"'Are you happy, Reuben?'

"'Yes, and that's the reason I want others to be.' And then I began to tremble all over.

"And says he:

"'There's no more offending or giving offence in the other world, Lois, and Job Crofton's soul and mine are at variance no longer.'

"'Let there be peace, Lois, and let the young man Gilbert be your grandchild's husband.'

"And then he knocked the bowl of his pipe on the edge of the andiron, as I've seen him do it so often, and he got up and walked out of the room just for all the world like a living creature. I've often heard as ghosts can go through a keyhole, but your Grandfather Maple's ghost opened the door, and forgot to shut it after him into the bargain. So, when I roused up enough to know what was going on around me, the floor was covered with snow that had drifted in and the candle was blown out."

Oh, grandmother, do you think this was real?" cried Minny, with startled eyes.

"Didn't I see it with my own eyes and hear it with my own ears?" demanded old Mrs. Maple. "It's your grandfather's ghost! And I might have known that if he wanted to appear he could, for he had obstinacy enough for anything, rest his soul! You may marry Gilbert Crofton if you want to-morrow, Minny! And perhaps your grandfather's ghost will be easy then."

So the young people were happily married, and Gilbert came to live on the farm, and managed all the old lady's affairs for her. And she lived to be lady's affairs for her. And she lived to be 100 years old before she closed those keen blue eyes of hers upon the matters of this mortal world.

But one day, in turning over the relics of the roomy old garret, Minny came across a red chest, clamped with brass, and faintly odorous of dried lavender and rose leaves. She opened it.

"Oh, Gilbert, look here!" cried she. "My great-grandfather's best suit laid up in camphor gum and sweet herbs! Why do you suppose that Grandmother Maple has kept it?"

"I don't know, I am sure," said Gilbert, with a mischievous twinkle in her eyes. "Perhaps for the younger generations to masquerade in!"

Minny sprang to her feet, a light seeming to illumine her own face:

"Gilbert!" cried she, "did you—"

"No matter," said Gilbert, laughing; "shut up the box, Minny, your grandfather's ghost will never haunt the house again."

And it never did.—Boston Globe.

ABOUT PEOPLE.

Much of the money which Mrs. General Custer realized by her seventy-two readings last winter has gone toward educating a young girl, whose father died on the same field with her husband.

The khedive of Egypt is only a young man, but he is shrewd. He has decorated the wife of the proprietor of El-Ahram, the most influential journal in Egypt, with the Order of Chefakat. He has made himself solid with that paper.

Mrs. A. E. N. Robertson, of Muscogee, Indian territory, has been made a doctor of philosophy by the University of Ohio for translating the new testament out of the Greek into the language of the Creek Indians.

Ex-King Milan has become a Russian subject, this privilege having been granted by the czar. Milan receives $2,000 a month in return for the "condescention" from the czar's privy purse, but on the understanding that the "pension" will at once cease if he returns to Servia without the czar's sanction.

Mr. Gladstone is a courteous, not to say magnanimous, foeman. When after that last division before the resignation of the tory ministers there was hissing of Mr. Balfour, the liberal leader broke in with loud and spirited "hear, hears," and consequently expressed his disgust with the treatment accorded Lord Salisbury's spokesman in the commons.

Henrietta von Feuerbach, who died in Ansbach, Germany, recently, was the widow of Anselm von Feuerbach, the great Freiburg archaeologist and the stepmother of Feuerbach, the famous painter of historical scenes. In 1882 Mme. von Feuerbach prepared for publication the book "A Request," written by her husband. She was the author of several biographical works.

The disappearance of Ernest Brandes, editor of the Boerstidende, of Copenhagen, Demark, has caused a great sensation in that city. He left his home on August 6, and according to recent Danish papers, has not been heard of since that time. Mr. Brandes belongs to a distinguished family. He is a brother of Dr. George Brandes, the famous newspaper man and politician, who is also an orator of high rank. It is thought that the missing man is insane.

Sir Frederic Leighton, president of the Royal Academy, never works continuously and exclusively upon one painting, but has half a dozen or more canvases going. He devotes himself awhile to one and then works on another, and by degrees goes the rounds. This system he finds more refreshing mentally, and in the end more propuctive. Sir Frederic, according to the Strand Magazine, wears, when painting, a "pair of large spectacles with divided glasses, the upper part of the glasses being used for seeing his model at a distance and the lower for painting. These he has worn for the last ten years, although there is practically nothing the matter with his eyes."

Mrs. Chas. Smith, of Jimes, Ohio, writes: I have used every remedy for sick headache I could hear of for the past fifteen years, but Carter's Little Liver Pills did me more good than all the rest.

Though the late Dr. Francis B. Brewer, of Westfield, N. J., was known as the "pioneer of petroleum," because he first conceived the idea of using it for commercial purposes, the original oil refinery was established by Samuel M. Kies, who set up a small refinery in Pittsburg in 1853. At first he used a one-barrel still; such was the small beginning of what is now one of the greatest of industries, but this was afterward enlarged to a capacity of five barrels, and it is said to be still in existence.

LOCKED IN WITH FIRE.

Great Peril of a Philadelphia Family.

A Heroic Father's Brave Deeds on Record.

An Excited Child Fastens the Door and Imprisons the Whole Family.

Philadelphia, Sept. 2.—The entire family but one of Solomon Wegman, consisting of husband, wife and three children, occupied cots in the Pennsylvania hospital last night, suffering from burns received in an exciting fire, and which in the case of the wife are apt to prove fatal.

The Wegmans live at No. 1145 Charles street, a narrow thoroughfare near Washinton avenue. For some time Mrs. Wegman has been sick in bed.

As nearly as little 10-year old Mary Wegman could tell after the excitement of the affair had partly passed away, it was about 9 o'clock Thursday when she heard screams issuing from the room where her sick mother lay. She rushed toward the door, which to her agitated mind, seemed latched, but which in reality was only loosely closed. In grasping the knob she sprang the spring lock, and locked in all the rest of the family.

The room was illuminated with a kerosene lamp. Whether this exploded or was pushed from the narrow shelf on which it stood could not be ascertained from the injured family, but people living in the same house with the Wegman family say that the latter theory is the correct one.

"Break down the door!" the neighbors who followed Mary to the door heard Wegman yell inside, but in their excitement they did not comply with his command. At last he thought of the window. He had scarcely thrown this open, when little Abraham, 7 years of age, with his clothing ablaze, jumped from the second story to the pavement.

After opening the window Wegman yelled to the people below to stand prepared to catch his wife, and a moment later he threw her into the arms of those who were waiting to receive her. In the same way he threw Sarah, aged 5 years, and Benjamin, aged 9 years, from the window, and finally jumped himself.

At the hospital Drs. Miller and Wilson attended to the burned family. The woman's burns are on the breast, arms and shoulders. She is seriously injured and may not recover. Mr. Wegman's injuries consist of most frightfully burned hands arms and face. The children's burns are principally about the hands, arms and legs; those of little Abraham's being most painful.

The fire in the room was promptly extinguished, and the loss to furniture and house will not exceed $300. No explanation could be obtained from Mr. Wegman after the occurrence why he was not able to unfasten the door from the inside.

IN THE HIGH COURT.

An Interesting Session to be Held in Madison.

Question of Payment for Holding the State Funds Will Come Up for Settlement.

Madison, Wis., Sept. 1.—The supreme court convened yesterday and not very far down on the docket is a case that has played almost as important a part in Wisconsin politics as the famous gerrymander, a case involving points that, in one form or another, have eben before the people of the Badger state for over a score of years and which it is hoped by honest men in both parties will be forever laid to rest before many days.

It was in 1869 that the question of interest on the public funds first became the subject of legislative consideration, but it was not until 1876 that the appropriation of interest on the state funds by the treasurer was expressly prohibited.

The state treasurers, however, in direct violation of the statute, have continued up to the present time to appropriate the interest, and now that suits have been brought against the ex-treasurers it is revealed that, with interest to date, $700,000 have thus been diverted from the state for the enrichment of wire-pullers and blacklegs.

In November of last year Judge Newman of the circuit court gave judgment in this amount in favor of the state, and it is an appeal from this decision that is to be tried before the supreme court. It was under the administration of Gov. Peck that the suits were prosecuted and the democrats are now counting largely on this fact as a campaign issue. The republican platform, however, contains a plank commending the movement, and the question will probably have less weight in the coming election than it had two years ago.

IN THE PROCESSION.

St. Louis Doing Much to Keep Before the Public.

St. Louis, Sept. 1.—The illuminations which were tried here last Thursday are regarded by electricians as an extraordinary advance in the science of electric lighting and great interest is manifested in the first formal illumination of the city which will take place this evening.

Of the 75,000 electric lights used, more than one-half are incandescent, and these are inclosed in globes of several colors and moved to and fro by electricity during the performance, producing a remarkable scintillating effect of an entirely novel order, and one that has seldom been attempted before even with gas illuminations.

The total expenditure on the 12 nights on which the illuminations are announced will exceed $160,000, making no allowance for breakages, which in the event of a storm are apt to b econsiderable. Although the illumination last week is described only as a test, and was designed more to insure everything being in perfect working order to-night, the city was crowded with guests. Visitors generally express gratification at the prominence given Columbus and his ships in the decorations and set pieces and to many it appears as though the world's fair had commenced to be held this year in St. Louis.

WILL NOT COMMUTE.

Richmond, Va., Sept. 1.—A special from Blue Ridge Springs this morning says Gov. McKinney has wired the attorney for Tal Hall as follows: "After a careful examination of the papers in the case, I decline to pardon or commute the sentence of the court."

A BATTLE WON.

London, Sept. 1.—A dispatch from India says that the forces of the ameer of Afghanistan have won an important success over the Hazaras. The latter, after a severe conflict, in which 400 of the Afghan troops were killed, were compelled to vacuate Kamsan, which place was at once occupied by the Arghans. Much discontent prevails among the ameer's troops owing to lack of supplies, and many are deserting.

STRUCK BY A COW.

Gladstone Seriously Injured at Hawarden.

London, Sept. 1.—A dispatch from Hawarden stated that the Rt. Hon. W. E. Gladstone had a narrow escape from being killed by an infuriated cow. The animal, it is said, had been deprived of its calf recently, and has been dangerous since. Mr. Gladstone was taking a walk about his estate unaware of the dangerous character of the cow, when the cow made a sudden and impetuous rush at him.

Mr. Gladstone did not have time to get out of the way of the infuriated animal and stood his ground, hoping that it would go to one side. The cow dashed madly forward and knocked Mr. Gladstone down, tramping upon him and endeavoring to gore him with its horns, at which, fortunately, others seeing the predicament of Mr. Gladstone, rushed to his assistance and drove off the cow, which otherwise might have made a fatal ending to the attack. Mr. Gladstone was found to be not seriously hurt, although much shaken and somewhat bruised by his encounter with the vicious brute. It appeared that the cow had gone entirely mad shortly before the attack.

CARDINAL GIBBONS.

He Writes on the Columbian Exposition.

Americans Should Whoop It Up and Make It a Crowning Success.

Baltimore, Md., Sept. 1.—The Catholic Mirror of this city gives to the public in advance of publication in that journal the following proclamation of Cardinal Gibbons:

Cardinal's Residence,
Baltimore, Aug. 31, 1892.

To the Clergy and the Laity of the Archdiocese of Baltimore:

Attention has in various ways been already called to the approaching Columbian celebration in October next. When it is thus proposed to commemorate the fourth century of the discovery of this vast country of ours, no one will avoid entering heart and soul into these festivities.

As patriotic citizens of this most glorious and free of the republics and governments of the New World, we can most readily appreciate the benefits that have from the discovery accrued to the civilization and betterment of the human family. Here liberty, so long enthralled beyond the seas, has found a congenial home. Here has been afforded the spectacle of a nation which enjoys freedom without license, and authority without despotism, the purest democracy allied with a stable government. Peace and happiness as far perhaps as is attainable on earth result from most favorable conditions. Climate, soil, vegetation and mineral products found in almost endless variety and profusion, all conspire to make our country the most desirable in the world.

Nor can we forget to note, with a love for our religion as strong and as true as that for our country, the magnificent expansion God has been pleased to grant the church, and how sturdily and how beautifully the matter of Christian faith has grown, under the benign influence of our republican institutions. At the birth of the continent on the world's vision, our fathers came, bearing the cross of Christ and the torch of enlightenment, waving the banner of liberty and sowing the seeds of commerce and religion.

In the civilization of the country and in the preservation of its benefits, they have taken a prominent and decisive part, and have joined hands and hearts with their fellow citizens, irrespective of creed. They have aided in exploring and in colonizing it, and in developing its resources. They have spent life's energies towards its prosperity and many their life's blood, in defense of its liberties. Moreover, the glory of the discoverer is our glory. He was born and raised in the Catholic faith, which he illumined by his virtues and ornamented by his indefatigable zeal and conspicuous intellect.

As Christian Europe gave praise to God, when this continent was revealed to her, so now it is meet that the Christian American, whose children are the chief beneficiaries of the discovery, should commemorate the 400th anniversary of the event by hymns of thanksgiving and public festivities. And as ours is the most favored nation of the American continent it should be our privilege as well as our duty to set a generous example of enthusiasm to our sister commonwealths, and to surpass them as much by our religious and civic demonstrations as we excel them in wealth and material prosperity.

Availing ourselves of the option of dates left us by the Holy Father, we order that on Sunday, Oct. 16, the mass of the Blessed Trinity be solemnly celebrated in the Cathedral, with a sermon appropriate to the occasion. The divine service to conclude with Te Deum, in thanksgiving to God for the blessings we are about to commemorate. We also request that on the same day similar services be held as far as practicable in all the churches of the archdiocese.

Finally, that we may be in hearty accord with the president, who has appointed the 21st as the national holiday, we desire that each parish do its utmost to have a creditable display in the grand procession which will take place on the night of this latter date. We are confident that both the reverend clergy and the laity will correspond with our wishes and our hopes, and in a spirit of deep patriotism and of heartfelt gratitude to the All-good and All-wise.

The reverend clergy will kindly read this letter to their congregation on the second Sunday of September.

(Signed) Jas. Cardinal Gibbons,
Archbishop of Baltimore.

By order of His Eminence, C. F. Thomas, Chancellor.

New York, Sept. 1.—Deputy Sheriff Fox today received from J. & W. Travelers say that the most costly railway station in the world will be Waverly station, which is the Edinburgh terminus of the North British company, for in the company's negotiations with the municipal authorities it was stated that the cost of the immediate approaches, station, etc., would be at least £1,000,000. The finest station in the world at present is that of the Indian Peninsular railroad in Bombay, which cost in our money $1,500,000 and took 10 years to build. A SPY IN THE CAMP.

Pinkertons in the Amalgamated Association.

They Had Joined the Order Before the Strike and Have Plenty of Evidence.

Pittsburg, Sept. 1.—John Wippel and John Nelson were arrested in Homestead and brought to Pittsburg, charged by the Carnegie company with riot. Together with T. F. Gibson, previously held on the same charge, they were given a hearing before Alderman McMasters.

R. H. Tyler and Joseph Knippe, Pinkerton detectives, were placed on the witness stand and caused consternation to the defense by producing their working cards, issued to them by the Duquesne lodge of the Amalgamated association, into which they had been initiated a short time before the strike. The cards gave them entrance to all gatherings of the men. The Pinkertons testified that a short time before the riots at Duquesne they had attended a meeting at which a resolution, warmly supported by the defendants, was presented. It provided that the men organize themselves in squads and guard the mill, so that no one should be allowed to enter and to keep non-union men out. Wippel and Nelson were sent back to jail, but Gibson furnished the necessary bail for court.

LABOUCHERE.

His Case May Prove a Stumbling Stone.

London, Sept. 1.—The Chronicle to-day takes up Mr. Labouchere's side of the controversy in regard to the queen's influence in preventing his appointment to the cabinet, and says it is for the question of royal interference in such matters to be threshed out.

The Pall Mall Gazette, also liberal, says: The premier, in complying with the objection of the sovereign to a nomination, accepts the whole can insist upon his nominee if he chooses, but if he does not think his proposed colleague is sufficiently important to justify the necessary pressure he has no right to shield himself under the objections which the sovereign has.

And prompt to cure, Ayer's Pills act on the intestines, not by stimulating, but by strengthening them. They promote the natural peristaltic motion of the bowels, without which there can be no regular, healthy operations. For the cure of constipation, biliousness, jaundice, vertigo, sick headache, indigestion, sour stomach, and drowsiness,
Ayer's Pills

IN TRADING CIRCLES

Both at Our Home and Abroad.

Wheat Quotations for the Day—Prices Currents for Produce and Other Articles.

The receipts of wheat to-day at Minneapolis and Duluth are 128,308 bu., and from five other western points 869,626 bu.; aggregate, 997,934 bu. On the corresponding Thursday in 1891 the receipts were 944,219 bu., but 304,896 bu. was northwest wheat, leaving 639,323 bu. from the five other points, compared with 869,626 bu. to-day.

Export clearances yesterday from four Atlantic ports were, wheat, 138,463 bu., and flour to an aggregate of 385,000 bu.

English markets as reported herein are lower for wheat and corn.

The Liverpool and London markets present a ragged appearance this morning. Free importations of foreign wheat—commencement of sales of home grown—greater than average stocks in store, and torpid speculation, are the reasons for daily decline. To all of above cholera adds its usual and potent depressing influence. The prices in London to-day equal 86 1-2c bus. for winter wheat, and at Liverpool 90 1-2c. It costs 15c for a water freight and expenses.

To-day exports are light. If they should be large, and continue, the goose that lays the eggs would grow fainter daily, and die. The continents are not buying to any extent, as new wheat is coming forward, and at Berlin cargoes of foreign wheat which had been imported, have been sold to go elsewhere, on account of the new wheat harvested.

Receipts of wheat are now decreasing. Farmers have held up in a measure.

It has been the largest August movement in the history of the trade, we think, and under all the conditions a most extraordinary and unexpected one. We shall give our usual statistics next Saturday. Toledo has had her share in the movement, and always will. Why? Because it is the best winter wheat market in the west, and her system of grading and dealing is the most popular.

Liverpool stocks give an increase of 1,600,000 bushels of wheat in August, 160,000 bushels less corn, and 20,000 bushels less flour.

The wheat markets made a serious break to-day under the influence of all the bear news noted herein, but some telegrams concerning frosts in the northwest started the price upward and 7-8c of the lowest twice on December wheat at Chicago was recovered. It has been a day of fluctuations. The closing is rather firm. Corn has lost 1-2 to 7-8c in price at the close, but was much lower at one time.

Foreign markets are reported as closing lower.

In New York October wheat closed at 80 3-8c, a loss of 3-8c; December at 83 1-2c, a loss of 1-2c. September corn at 56c; steady; October at 56 1-4c, a gain of 1-8c. October oats at 38 1-2c, a loss of 1-8c.

In Chicago October wheat closed at 75c, and December at 77c, a loss of 1-2c. September corn at 48 3-4c, a loss of 3-8c; October at 49 1-4c, a loss of 1-4c. September oats at 37 7-8c, a loss of 1-8c.

In Toledo — The trading in wheat futures has been much more active quite natural to a fluctuating market, and where margins are expiring. Opening prices were at a loss of 3-4c, and that represents about the closing losses. September 3-4c, December 3-4c, October 3-4c, May 3-4c. On the call December sold at 79 1-2@79 1-8c and 79 1-4c, and May at 84 1-2c. On the regular board September sold at 76 1-4@76c, and closed at 76 1-4c; October at 76 1-2@76 3-4c, and closed at 77c; December at 79 1-4@78 3-4c, and closed at 79 1-8c; May at 84 1-8c and closed at 84 1-2c.

May Be Safe.

Marquette, Sept. 1.—The identity of the schooner which is believed to have foundered off this port yesterday is still a mystery. Incoming steamers to-day report seeing no wreckage and say nothing can be seen behind Grand Island. The hope is still cherished, however, that the schooner may have reached Grand Island harbor and run in far enough behind the island to be out of sight of passing steamers.

Arbitrated.

Chicago, Sept. 1.—The Peck-Aurora-Adams collision case has been arbitrated and terms of settlement were accepted all around to-day.

To Save the Wreck.

Manistee, Sept. 1.—Two tugs, with hawsers and diver are at work at the schooner City of Toledo trying to right her. Her anchors are holding her in the capsized position. The body of Lizzie McMillan, the cook, was found this morning about 7 miles north of here.

Bayfield, Wis., Sept. 1.—A party of five men working in a quarry on Wilson's island left Bayfield in a small boat Tuesday night during a severe storm. It is supposed they have been drowned. Their names are Fred Conlee, Fred Masher, Ira Richardson, Charles Thorn, and an unknown man.

It is said that some of them were intoxicated. They have not been heard from since leaving here. A party of men are now in search of the boat.

Probably Went Down.

Marquette, Mich., Sept. 1.—An unknown schooner was sighted yesterday about 15 or 20 miles out flying signals of distress. The heavy northwester which set in Tuesday evening was still blowing. The tug Gillette and the crew of the life-saving station went out to render assistance. Neither the tug or life crew found anything of the vessel and it is believed the schooner went down with all hands. It is believed to be a boat loaded with stone from Portage entry.

Steam Barge Sinks.

Cleveland, O., Sept. 1.—The steam barge Kittie Forbes sprung a leak off Fairport and arrived here with seven feet of water in her hold. She settled on the bottom in the old river bed. She will be pumped as soon as possible and placed in dry dock.

Western Reserve Sunk.

Algonac, Mich., Sept. 1.—The following message was received here this afternoon by the friends of Harry Stewart, who has been sailing all summer on the boat named in his dispatch:

Newberry, Mich.—Western Reserve gone down; am all right.

The Western Reserve was bound up and nothing has since been received to verify the telegram or to give fuller details. It is feared from the tone of the message that the rest of the crew have been lost.

Lost Two Barges.

Hancock, Sept. 1.—The steambarge Toledo, which arrived here yesterday afternoon, reported that she lost her two barges, the Gulding Star and Otego, in the heavy gale off Manitou Island. The sea was so heavy that the Toledo was unable to pick the boats up, although a desperate effort was made to do so. The Toledo, in order to save herself, came on here.

When she left the steamship Northern Wave was attempting to rescue the two imperiled boats, but had not succeeded. It is not unlikely that one of the barges drifted as far as Marquette, as the storm would have taken her in that direction had the Northern Wave finally been unable to get a tow line to them.

All Hands Lost.

Manistee, Mich., Sept. 1.—The schooner City of Toledo, belonging to the Manistee Lumber company, cleared from this port yesterday noon with a cargo of lumber. She was caught in the northwesterly gale and driven on the beach at Pierport, 18 miles north of here about 6 o'clock. She turned completely over in a few minutes and all hands on board were lost. She was commanded by Captain John McMillan, of this city. His two eldest daughters were on board with him. The crew consisted of six men. There was a heavy sea when the boat went out, so much so that the crew had to take to the rigging. Three hours afterward she was sighted with her flag at half mast, making for the beach. The vessel now lies bottom up about 50 rods north of Pierport.

NEW YORK POLITICS.

The Kings County Case to be Taken Up.

Brooklyn, N. Y., Sept. 1.—Judge Barlett, of the supreme court, rendered a decision to-day in the matter of the application of Andrew D. Baird and others for a writ of mandamus directed to the supervisors of Kings county.

The plaintiff and others in the action objected to the manner of the apportionment by the board of supervisors, contending that it was unfair, and they therefore brought an action for a writ of mandamus to compel the supervisors to meet and divide the county into assembly districts in the way contemplated by the constitution, claiming that what the supervisors had done was void.

Judge Bartlett denied the application without prejudice. The case will now be taken to the court of appeals.

THE TENNIS TOURNEY.

Miss Closterman, of Cincinnati, the Champion.

Will Gosline and Mr. Hollister Come Together.

The Championship Game Will Be Played To-Morrow Afternoon—The Playing This Morning—The Coldhams in Doubles.

At the tennis tournament the ladies' singles were decided this morning. There were five contestants at the start, Miss Sprague, of Cleveland; Misses Jordan and Closterman, of Cincinnati, and Mrs. Lloyd and Miss Whitaker, of Toledo. Miss Closterman walked right up to the front, beating Mrs. Lloyd in the preliminary round and Miss Whitaker in the first round. In the final round, which was played this morning, she met Miss Sprague, who had beaten Miss Jordan. It was Cleveland against Cincinnati for first place. It was a brilliant contest.

Miss Closterman, who is a pretty little lady of 14 years, stepped on to the court attired in a white and gold costume. She played a rattling game and won the first set, score 6—2. This put Miss Sprague on her mettle and in the next set she turned the tables, winning with the same score, 6—2, with the big end to her credit.

Miss Closterman then won the next set, reversing the score, 6—2, again in her favor.

In the finals it takes three sets to win a game. So at this point Miss Closterman needed only one set to win her the first place. She started in all right, making two points before Miss Sprague scored. Miss Sprague rallied and caught up to her opponent. It became very exciting. The set stood three all. Miss Sprague went ahead one point, then Miss Closterman caught up to her only to see the Cleveland lady take the lead again and finally win; score, 6-4.

This gave each of the young ladies two sets. The next set would finish the game and the contest.

The final set opened up with Miss Sprague winning the first game. Miss Closterman won the next, making the score one all. The little Cincinnati lady also won the next and the next, making the score of the set 3-1 in her favor. She makes another point and the set stands 4-1. Miss Sprague won a game and brought the odds against her down a little. Miss Closterman won the next, making the score 5-2 in favor of Miss Closterman. She won the next game, and in consequence, the set, and the championship of the state in ladies' singles. She was showered with congratulations.

It now remains for Will Gosline to bring the championship of Ohio to Toledo. It is a possibility but he will have to beat the two best players in the state, B. P. Hollister and T. S. Beckwith, of Cleveland.

There were aspirants for first place in this contest. H. S. Woodbury, W. W. Coldham, A. H. Coldham, Will Gosline, Geo. Shaw, H. P. Dodge, of Toledo; B. P. Hollister, Nat Emerson and E. W. Hobart, Cincinnati, and C. H. Farber, of Columbus.

Gosline beat Woodbury in the second round and this morning B. P. Hollister beat A. H. Coldham in two straights, 6-0; 6-2.

Mr. Coldham did not play with his usual vim. He took his defeat gracefully. Mr. Coldham played an excellent game all through the tournament.

This afternoon Will Gosline will play the final round in the contest with Mr. Hollister. It is all guess work as to who will be the winner. Mr. Hollister is an old hand at the business. He has appeared in tournaments before and has a wonderfully clear head. He is never rattled, always on guard and as quick as a flash. He can get a ball when the spectators would swear that it was far beyond his reach. Will Gosline will have his hands full. He has done wonders thus far and has beaten his opponents easily, but he may find a stickler in Mr. Hollister.

The Coldham brothers beat Hollister and Emerson in the doubles yesterday afternoon, score 4—6; 6—3; 6—2. They will now play Dodge and Gosline and finish the contest.

This afternoon Miss Whitaker and Mrs. Lloyd, of Toledo, will play Misses Closterman and Jordan in the finals in the ladies' doubles.

To-morrow afternoon the championship game will be played between Mr. Beckwith and the winner of the Gosline-Hollister game.

This evening there will be a reception at the Outing club's pleasant summer home.

TEACHERS' INSTITUTE.

Continuation of the Session in Toledo.

Topics of Interest to Instructors Discussed — The Program for Friday Discussed.

Prof. Brumbaugh conducted the opening exercises at the morning session of the Teachers' Institute.

Mr. Hutchinson announced that a meeting the Teachers' Reading circle would be called for a few moments, after the morning session. He requested the teachers to make up their minds in regard to a new county examiner and stated that their expressions would be given to Mr. Compton and Mr. Millard. He also asked them to be prepared to state whom they wanted for a committee on resolutions and their choice in election of officers.

The subject of primary reading was again taken up and discussed by Mr. Hutchinson.

Prof. Coler recommended the Reading Circle as being advantageous and brought it into his talk on "Pedagogics." The discussion was very interesting.

Prof. Brumbaugh talked on "Odds and Ends" this morning, with the usual pleasing result. He read a number of beautiful selections from the various authors, from a geographical standpoint. He also gave quotations and asked the teachers to tell him to which school of poetry they belonged. This was followed by a short meeting of the teachers' reading circle, at which it was decided to hold a meeting for organization to-morrow night.

Two hundred and sixty-five names were on the teachers' register at the institute at the close of the session yesterday afternoon.

"Organization of Schools" was Prof. Brumbaugh's subject for the first hour yesterday afternoon. The principal idea expressed was in regard to well prepared programs for school work, strictly adhered to.

Prof. Coler discussed the subject of "History." He encouraged newspaper reading for both teachers and pupils. The three principal reasons for studying history are: First, culture of mind; second, patriotism; third, practical information.

In Prof. Hutchinson's talk on "Primary Geography" he advised studying the geography in one's own vicinity. Presque Isle, Turtle light or points up the river, for example, with which the children are familiar. He made many good points and recommended a work on the subject.

The new arrivals are: J. E. Connolly, Mondova; J. R. Linn; Cora Waggoner, Moline; Carrie Brown, Mattie Stalker; Hattie Vermilyea, Sylvania; Clara Beis, Whitehouse; Carrie Slatts, Sylvania; Hattie McCoy; Etta Mae Barkdull, Port Clinton; Lizzie Upham, Sylvania; Maude Lainnon, Sylvania; Clara Jacobs, Jennie Gilmore, J. I. Ward.

Following is the program for Friday:

LOVE-MAKING ON THE STAGE.

"The art of making love on the stage is one that few actors acquire," said an old Thespian to The Man About Town. "A woman naturally clings to a man with grace, grasping his arm with cleverly applied passion or tenderly nestling on his bosom. But a man doesn't get onto the aestheticism of the thing with the same ease and grace. Harry Lacy was a dream of a lover, though. He had a trick of weaving his arms about a woman with a sinuous, seductive movement that brought a lump into the throat of every woman of his audience. He always preferred approaching a woman from behind and then drawing her back into his arms that seemed made for that purpose. Hoff isn't a bad lover, by any means. Ask the St. Louis girls if they don't think he makes very few false moves. Funny thing, while on this topic, but you know when Barrymore was supporting Langtry they hated each other worse than poison. He declares she would put pins in her bodice to stick him, and they kept up a regular quarrel the whole time they were billing and cooing and embracing in the most ardent fashion. 'Don't hold me so tight, sir; you have evidently never had your arms around a lady,' Langtry would say, in a whisper. 'If you knew how thoroughly distasteful this is to me you would never accuse me of getting near you,' he would reply. Do people ever make love on the stage? Not that I know of; it is all purely business." —St. Louis Republic.

ONE WOULD BE ABLE TO LIVE.

A SILHOUETTE IN STONE.

Nature Indulges in a Freak Equally Novel and Beautiful.

Mother Nature very often unloosens her earth-born dignity and becomes with her own creations as capricious and fanciful a jade as that most elusive of all lovers—the Goddess of Fortune. This argument is well exemplified in a slab of marble owned by Mr. R. W. Barker, and now on exhibition at his office on Eleventh street, says the Washington Record.

The slab is a sample of the finest Sienna marble, taken from the famous quarries near Lisbon, Portugal. It is a light orange yellow in color, streaked with grayish black veins. These veins form the contour of a woman's head and bust, as true and faithful to life as though drawn by some skillful artist. The features are distinctively Spanish, the hair is dressed low on the brow, and combed up high in the back in the style familiar in the photographs of Carmencita.

The face seems to be half covered with something that might very truthfully be defined as a mantilla of black lace, that is wound around the statuesque throat, and falls in a black cascade on the swelling bosom whose outlines are perfectly defined. The eye, half sheathed by the lid, whose dark lashes sweep the high but rounded cheek, is dark, and a little imagination would create a langour in its depths.

The whole is marvelous and would deserve a prominent place in the great museums of the world. When you look at the marble for the first time the outlines seem blurred, but after a short time they stand out boldly and clearly, so much so that nothing else is noticed on the slab.

Mr. Barker obtained the stone in a rather peculiar way. He was standing one day looking idly in the big show windows of Barber & Ross' store, corner of Eleventh and G streets. His eye fell on this particular piece of marble, which was one among specimens in the window, the longer Mr. Barker looked the more interested he grew. Mrs. Potter, the artist, happened to pass by, and Mr. Barker called her attention to the stone.

"Look at it intently, if you please," said Mr. Barker, and then tell me what you see."

Why, it's a woman's head," remarked Mrs. Potter, and she pointed out all the characteristics. Mr. Barker went in and purchased the stone, the salesman wondering what he wanted with a specimen block of marble. When Mr. Barker let the secret of his purchase out the firm would have gladly bought it back at any price.

A DOCTOR'S ADVICE.

Sufferers from Mosquito Bites Are Told How to Relieve Their Sufferings.

A great deal of distress is often experienced by women with delicate skin from the sting of the mosquito. There are cases on record regarding this insect which show that the poison which its lance may have accumulated from various sources may indirectly produce death. A case of this sort occurred at one of our city hospitals a few days ago.

The mosquito's instrument of warfare, which is at the same time the one through which he gets his nourishment, appears under the microscope like a sabre with a tube running its entire length. This tube has a capacity for collecting a great deal of poison from a thousand sources, and when it pierces your flesh it leaves some irritating material in the hole which it has made.

With this poison you have to deal, and this is how to do it:

Put a tablespoonful of baking soda in a pint bottle of water and shake it thoroughly, then add to this a teaspoonful of ammonia.

When stung by the mosquito bathe the injured part with this solution for a minute or so, then wash in warm water, dry gently and dust with a little flour or other powder.

The oil of pennyroyal is very efficacious when applied to the skin in keeping mosquitoes away from you.—New York World.

WATER CURE FOR BLACKMAILERS.

As a blackmailer Sophie Lyons has never had an equal. Her audacity is amazing. She does not know what fear is, and she has all the wiles of an unscrupulous woman with wonderful attractiveness in manner.

The strangest method she ever resorted to to make a leading man of Detroit knuckle down the ducats to her ended in her defeat in a laughable way. He had become aware of the danger of her wiles. He finally avoided her. She did many things to bring him to terms. She failed. Then she adopted a new method. She sat on his stoop every day. He was so prominent a man that a scene on that stoop would have ended him. Police and threats of shooting did not move her. She knew the man didn't dare go to court. But he won in the end. One fine day she was nearly drowned on that stoop. A hose from an upper window did the business. That was too much for the fashionable Sophie. She gave up the job and the big man to-day is a great believer in the "cold water cure" for blackmailers.—New York Recorder.

THE CZAR'S BILLIARD TABLE.

In accordance with the orders of the emperor, a magnificent billiard table has been manufactured especially for his majesty in one of the famous works of Berlin. It is unusually large, being almost 10 feet long and 4 1-2 feet wide. The wood is expensive and the carving said to be artistic. There are various patent arrangements to facilitate the counting and registration of points made by the czar and his guest. The table can also be arranged for use as a dining table sufficiently long to accommodate 50 persons. Numerous "leaves" to be placed in the table have been made for this purpose. The table is expensive, and is probably the finest piece of furniture of its kind ever manufactured.—New York Tribune.

THE SKINNY ONES THE BIG EATERS.

Old Babcock, shrewd observer of humanity—and seaweed—that he is, has been down to Long Branch for a day or two sizing up the company that he has contracted to feed at the coming clambake. It is his boast that he never overdoes or underrates a bake. Every one goes away complete, but there is no residuum. The element of feminity in this coming bake puzzled the old chap for a while.

He was shown all the big women at the Branch and told to note their capacity.

"It ain't the big ones I'm askeered of," he said.

"It's them little skinny ones that eats the most."—New York Herald.

"I hear you and Walsingham are on the outs," said Hawley. "Yes," replied Hicks. "He asked me to design a crest for him, and I suggested a pig rampant on a waxed floor as consistent with his name, and he got mad."—Harper's Bazar.

"I see by that sign," said the man in the chair to the barber, "that you hone razors for private use." "Yes, sir. Have you some that you want honed?" "No, but I was wondering why you didn't hone the razors you use on your customers."—Brooklyn Life.

"Ah, me valet tells me I'm going to a wedding to-morrow. Miss Van Pelf's to be married to some fellah, you know, but I cahn't think of his confounded name." "Why, old man, you're to marry her yourself." "By jove, so I am. What a memory you've got!"

A model of ocean currents is to be exhibited at the world's fair which will possess great practical value. This model, which is a huge scientific tank, is made to represent the surface of the earth spread out on an area of about 30 feet square, the ocean and seas being shown by actual water. Small streams of water are ejected through pipes under the model so that the whole body of water moves exactly as the ocean currents move. The direction of the currents is shown distinctly by a white powder on the surface of the water. Near the model will be placed a large map giving the fullest details of the force, volume and direction of the various ocean currents.
